Fall

New Student Fun and Games

New student fun and games is, well just as it sounds. A day where all of the new students do various activities to bring them closer together and to get to know one another. Being my first year at TCS, I was forced against my will to participate. I figured that it would be some stupid thing that would be no fun at all and that I would rather be sleeping. Well it turned out to be a fun day. Each house had their own activity or game that they had set up. Most of them involved some sort of having to get very dirty or very wet, or both. It gave me a chance to get to know not only the new students but the returning ones as well. The culmination of new student fun and games is the infamous Mud Pit. Which is a large pit of mud. This is the best part of the new student fun and games. Everybody including people who don't want to, find their way into the mud pit. It gives you a chance to just let loose and get dirty. 106th Oxford Cup

November 6th was an anticipated day for many, and an equally dreaded day for the rest! We woke up to chilly weather, and while running, a little snow began to fall - just enough to cool you off!

Craig Fettes brought the Oxford Cup title home again shredding 20 seconds from his previous time.

Laura Clarke and Rachel Swift placed first for the top females in the race.

In the Junior School, the top boy was Clayton Irwin and girl, Marley Bathe.

Her older brother, Greg, also placed well at a solid second, and James McCracken with a third.

This year there were over 600 runners with 570 of them finishing the course in under 45 minutes!

FALL PLAY 2002- M

adwoman of Chaillot

This year's fall play, Jean Giradoux's The Madwoman of Chaillot, provided yet another challenging and meaningful piece for TCS students to set to stage. The play was written in 1943 in the midst of the 2nd World War. The author at that time felt the need to create a comic fable where the pure in heart win out over the evildoers in the world. In the fall of 2002, we found ourselves wishing that the solution to the unfortunately similar global conflict on our doorstep was easy to find.

The play had numerous contributing cast members including: Ardith Birchall, Vanessa Chase, Alex Willison, Whitey Prevost, Karla Day, Michelle Churchman, Emily Foster, Britta Towle, Lindsay MacKay, Jess Ritchie, Chloe van Keeken, Andrew Wilson, Pin Duangdee, Katie Cummer, Jesse Kavander, Thomas Davis, Alex Furber, Laura Macklin, Sarah Warren, Dee Garcia, Kay Schonberger, and Britta Towle.

Kudos goes to assistant directors Ben Johnson and Katie Cummer, along with all stage crew members for making this possible!

The 2002 Bigside Bears football session was quite the roller coaster starting off with a great win in a new tradition by defeating Paul Dwyer, followed by a tough regular season. The season ended with an unforgettable fourth quarter win in Belleville. The season also included a memorable trip to Youngstown, Ohio with a tough game in monsoon weather. The defence had a solid year as middle linebacker, R Godin, posed a serious threat to any running back. A. Robinson, M. LaFleur and G. Urquhart (when his thumb was all right) played a strong session as aggressive defensive backs, while Bill Cruess and R. Knowles were very capable outside linebackers. D. Smith led the offence with brilliant passes to his receivers, J. Kalinauskas, J. Brennan, and N. Brennan. The big boys on the line hit hard, with great efforts by A. Bradshaw (the biggest kicker in the league) and M. Osuszek. Thanks to everyone else who added something to help make it a great season. Good luck to the boys next year in trying to make the playoffs. Thanks to all the coaches.

The Winter 2002 Season brought many new faces and new talents to the team. There were only two returning players, Temilola Sobowale and Becca Rowen. Our season had a shaky start especially when Temilola Sobowale decided to shoot on the wrong basket. Mallory Maynard, Ashley Johns, Rachelle Krause and Melissa Swainson were great teammates with an amazing love and dedication to the game. Jessica Chapman, Genna Reid, Jenny Ross all brought a different style of basketball to our practices and the team learned from them. Carly Ogaki and Lesley McLelland brought immense enthusiasm and optimism to the team. They were always positive during games and practices. Rebecca Rowen (great three point shooter) and Shannon Swift were the co-captains this year and displayed leadership on and off the court. Julia Bakker was a great low post player, tough and willing to sacrifice her body for a basket, as we witnessed at St. Clement's when she was bitten in the arm. We all know that our team would have been nothing if it weren't for our great coaches, Mr. (Spike) Ayotte and Mr. (Garry) Nichols. Besides teaching us new skills and improving our old ones, they made basketball fun. By the end of the season, we all had nicknames, which made practices and games very enjoyable. Our team also had a passion for trees, and loved having tea for two at pine tables and this all showed during our games. This year our season was amazing and there were many unforgettable memories made.

Coaches: Mr. Pinches, Mr. Keyes, Mr. Taylor
Captains: M. Marshall, S. Pink, B. Shirreff, N. Topolie
MVP: B. Shirreff

The season started with an abundance of players and lack of heart. But as the season progressed and we went through the fun and hardships of practice, certain leaders emerged. The outstanding leader in the majority (if not all) of the players' minds was our Fullback and MVP, B. Shirreff, who gained more yards himself then the rest of our offence combined, but not without the help of a truly young and inspired offensive line consisting of G. Samson-Strecker our top lineman, Sam "Muffin" Giannone and D. Kwan, three players who will all return next season. Another of our key offensive players was M. Marshall with his bullet passes, recording only three interceptions all season and hundreds of yards on offence. On the receiving end of Max's passes were D. Moulton and J.D Brown who made up the receiving corps of our team. Our season started off slowly for the most part because our defensive players lacked heart and focus on the game, but throughout the season they developed into a solid defensive unit. We had excellent play by all of our defensive players including our two defensive captains, S. Pink, who recorded numerous sacks all season and N. Topolie, who was the heart and soul of our defensive backs, knocking down many passes.

Coaches: Mr. Christ, Mrs. Powles
Captains: V. Kortekaas, B. Candlish
MVP: V. Kortekaas

This year's team had a 'Hoosier' like season as it was one of the most memorable and successful ones. With returning veterans such as Barbara Candlish, Heather Wright, Dana Wesley, Vanessa Kortekaas, Jen Foley, and Martha Baldwin, we were lucky to have Kristin Anderson, Kelsey Wilcox, Brenna Swift, and Emily Dewsbury move up from Littleside. Coach Christ and Coach Powles led the team to one of its best CISAA and Kawartha league records, with 17 wins and 7 losses. The team also had many season high stats, with Brenna's triple-double and other notable double-double finishes. Some of our more unforgettable games included winning against Albert in OT, Friday night basketball, defeating Ridley by 3 points at Bear Fair, and our trip to Toonie Town. We were grateful to be let in on Coach C's family crepe recipe, and we'll never forget sunny days at Dairy Queen! We look forward to hosting and playing in this year's OFSAA Championships. The graduating players will be greatly missed, and we wish next year's team the best of luck!. Thanks to the coaches for all their hard work, support and guidance!

Coaches: Mr. Wright, Ms. Camblin
Captains: R. Purzner, R. Swift
MVP: C. Fettes, L. Clarke

TCS Harriers 2002 had a record season with the most OFSAA participants ever.

TCS Harriers is the only team that provides the school with monetary gain.

TCS Harriers is the only team that can boost the population of Port Hope in one day.

TCS Harriers was the only team up at 7:30 on Saturday morning.

Our announcements were not as exciting as we hoped they would be.

Although we cleaned house in the running world, we can't take all the credit for our continued success. Thanks to our coaches for an inspiring season. We had some senior boys who excelled at cards, some pubescent junior boys, and to top it off, a powerhouse of senior girls. Speaking of which, you can find our COSSA and CISAA banners on the wall of the gym. Thumbs up, team, to another great season and a job well done to our outstanding coaches!!

PS: Stay off the numbers, Mr. Wright. Your counting skills were worse than our announcements.

Coaches: Mr. Keiser, Mr. Ingram
Captains: B. Parker, B. Taylor
MVP: B. Taylor

The year started shakily with losses to De La Salle and Crescent, but was soon turned around when we took St. George's to school by beating them 8-1. The core of guys on the team were strong and truly the best 18 of the 60 that tried out. The Bermuda boys, consisting of James Lister and Mike Skinner, started at the back, while Brendon Taylor was strong in the middle. The Biggar boys took the wings in midfield while Kento Ozaki and Duncan Montgomery kept it together in the middle. Striker Greg Mandeville sniped the goals, while Adam Petty and Jesse Wootton help put some in as well. The good thing about the team is that we had more depth than any other team. Guys like Matt McPherson, Graeme Bakker, David Gadd, and Jackie Cheung were always ready to take any position. Lastly, the fine goaltending by Caleb Balloch proved essential in our season. The record this team had, and the position it finished, does not truly show how good we were by the end. The season went through more hardships than not, and the guys always pulled through with determination and perseverance. This truly was a great team.

MVP: B. Murray

The Littleside Boys Soccer team looked like a strong team from the first day of practice. There were a few returning players including Phil Genesis, Patrick Hoy, Matt Herod, Jason Lee and Caspar Yue. There were also a large number of talented new players who have proved to Coach Hay that they were capable of playing as a team. Newcomers such as Brett Murray, Graham Jones, Alex Brown, Anthony Kelamis, Ola Ojo, David Piccini, Neil Issar, Rob MacGregor, Ryan McCurdy, Xiao Yue, Tony Yu, and Jae Jang helped create one of the strongest teams in the league. The season started off with a 3-3 tie to Ridley, a 10-1 victory over Albert, and a 5-1 victory over UCC at their Homecoming. In all, the team was ranked 4th by the end of the season with Alex Brown leading the team's scoring. TCS hosted the U-16 quarterfinales where Littleside defeated UCC and Crescent. The win againt Crescent went into double overtime until Ola Ojo scored on a penalty shot. Littleside's final challenge came against SAC in the semifinals which was the team's best game all season. We were kept in the game by defence and goalie, led by our two captains, Caspar Yue and Brett Murray. Unfortunately, the team lost in the semifinals to SAC 1-0. It was a memorable season!

Coaches: Ms. Miller, Mr. Robinette
Captains: A. Caballero
MVP: R. Deane

It was a fun season this year for Middleside Soccer. We had many players who were not only new to the team but actually new to the sport. We also had a very international team. We had a couple of players from Korea, a couple more from China, one from Japan, three from the islands, our great manager/player from India, our two awesome coaches from Canada, and our Captain from Mexico. Although our record was not as successful as we hoped, we still had a good season in which our new players improved a lot. During every game of the season, Honda and Luke became "walls" in the team's net and never gave up. In the defensive line, Robert was always there to kick the ball away from the other team's forwards. Hoon-Kyo's awesome defensive and offensive headers were very accurate. In the midfield Calvin, Ji Soo, Eddie, and Matt made some creative plays along with Captain Caballero, which then would become goals by Amar's powerful shots. Also,against UCC, an awesome goal was scored by Christian "el Pirata" Knowles. In our last game against SAC, Herman scored a nice goal to end up with a feeling of success. By the end of the season Scott, Ronny, Kent, Irwin, Keneth and Jason showed a big improvement. The whole team would like to thank Mr. Wright for his awesome support and enthusiasm in all of our games. Finally, the team wants to thank our great coaches, Mr. Robinette and Ms. Miller, for all they did for us.

BS Volleyball

Coaches:Mr. Lowry, Miss Feddery
Captains:Justin Chopra
MVP: Ian Mathieson, Nate Caruana

Bigside Volleyball had a very successful season this year. With six players returning to Bigside, it was fair to say our expectations were reasonably high. We got off to a slow start, getting thumped in the Early Bird Tournament and then losing games to UCC and St. Mike's. However, we rebounded quite nicely, posting impressive victories over Crescent, RSGC, Albert, CDS and SAC. The victory over SAC allowed us to clinch a playoff berth, something no Bigside Volleyball team in recent memory has done. Unfortunately, we had the bad luck of drawing undefeated UCC in the first round. We played our hearts out and gave them a reason to sweat, but they prevailed, beating us in three hard fought sets. Our team could not function without our MVPs, Nate Caruana and Ian Mathieson, who were the collective backbone of this team. As well, Evan Crocker, Alex "The French Canyon" Mazar, Terry Chan, and John "JOMO" Morrison played their hearts out all season, contributing with killer spikes and great defensive plays. Also, Ben Borkovic and our German import, Victor "Berlin Wall" Sander helped out with some massive blocks and digs. When he wasn't busy humouring us with his antics, Rishi Bhargava did a great job on the defensive end. Last but not least, Bigside would like to thank our awesome and dedicated coaches, Ms. Feddery and Mr. Lowry, as well as our amazing manager, Erika Schroeder. Thanks for a great season guys. Good luck to those returning next year!

This year has been quite interesting for the Littleside Boys volleyall team. We started off the season with only four players coming out for the tryouts on the first day! After recruiting some interested athletes, we managed to assemble a small group of eleven volleyball players. Some of these players had never played competitive volleyball in their lives! Nevertheless, they were eager and willing to learn. By the end of the season, Littleside Volleyball had a fully developed team. All of the players improved immensely after a long season full of hard work and dedication. Some of our beginning players such as Tom Weiss, Andrew Zwarych, and Casey Bannerman learned the strategies of the game and used them to their full advantage. Dan Schell and Matt Garton, our star returning players, provided us with knowledge and insight for the players in times of need. Cameron Beath and Scottie Watson learned how to take full advantage of their height; whether big or small, they always came out on top! Kevin Chan, Simon Reis, and Ben Johnston showed outstanding improvement and will be a force next year in the league. All of Littleside's achievements and accomplishments would not have been possible without the terrific coaching of Mr. Wills and Mr. Smith, and the excellent help provided by Laura Trim. The team thanks them for their commitment and hard work.

Our 2002 Middleside Field Hockey season was one of the best Middleside had ever seen to say the least. We were grateful to have our returning forces of Madison, Justine, Christie, Whitney, Soo Bin, Alex, Lesley, Claudia and Michelle while gaining some great new talent with the likes of Laura, Amanda, Kate, Erin, Charmian, Paige, and the twins, Janet and Robyn. We had finished off last year in a bit of a slump and were determined to change that this year. We began by losing our first three games, but this by no means portrayed what our team had to offer. We finally found our niche and were off. There was no turning back then. We began to win game after game, surprising our opponents with some of our stick handling skills. Michelle 'the manic' in net had an awesome year. We finally made it to the CISAA where we tied both our games, which did not let us advance. In the snow we came together for one teary last cheer. Thanks to our great coaches, Mr.Hollett and Ms.Wotherspoon. To all the girls, this was the best year of field hockey we could have asked for!

Coaches: Ms. Brough, Ms. Collins
Captains: S. Gozoren, K. Zimmerman
MVP: S. Gozoren

This year, Bigside Field Hockey had a rough season, yet we came out with higher rather than low and mournful spirits. With many new faces to the team this year, especially those who had never played the game before, we achieved a greater understanding of support, dancing, and mostly having fun. Ms. Collins and Ms. Brough were two great coaches who were open to any ideas on the field, and seemed to have as much fun as the players did themselves. Considering our efforts in each game, we never managed to get the goals we deserved. We had set objectives we all tried to achieve, whether it be who was going to score the next goal or who was going to get the ball. We made the best of practices, running as a team, and even asking the coaches to make us run more. Our dedication to the sport was endless; we even practiced in the rain! The team members were always out there supporting one another in the game and on the sidelines. Overall we grew as a team achieving great sucess, yet our main accomplishment was to have fun. The season brought lasting memories especially to those who are graduating. We thank the coaches and manager for a great season.

LeVan Hall Opening

The LeVan Hall Extravaganza was a huge success! The much anticipated opening was wonderful as spotlights shone from LeVan, beckoning all visitors inside.

Donators, parents and students enjoyed the spectacular show which included: drama skits, singing, musical performances from the jazz band, the band and strings, ballet, breakdancing,and swing dancing.

The talented TCS students who performed were the driving force behind LeVan Hall's successful opening. They truly demonstrated the true value and grandeur of our new building.

Thanks to all that were involved and to all the donations that made this possible. Enjoy and cherish this new building for years to come!

Ski Day 2003

Jamaica Self Help 2002

3:00 am …

Six of us. Naive travellers thus far piled into a crammed bus while the snow blinded our view. We had anxieties and fears, but we really didn't know what to expect on this journey.

Barbara Candlish, Brady McCarthy, Leslie Barton, Alex Bradshaw, Michael McCulloch, Brook Milne and Sarah Warren, plus two groups of students from Toronto and Peterborough, spent their March Break teaching, and learning from, a group of very special children and elderly people.

Brady spent his days working in two different locations. In the mornings he delighted the seniors at Mother Teresa's Sisters of Mercy Home with his political insights, while in the afternoon pretended to be President McCarthy at Holy Family School. Mike also worked at Holy Family School in a grade five class. The students thoroughly enjoyed his presence in the classroom and would often follow him on his walk home. Brook, Alex, Sarah, Barbara, and Ms. Barton all worked at Maxfield Park Children's Home in various locations. The students in the basic school learnt many new songs and games from Barbara and Brady. Ms. Barton, Alex, and Sarah worked in the Special School, teaching children from six years of age to eighteen years of age. They all taught Math and English and in some cases even taught children how to read. The vibrant children of Jamaica opened the group's eyes to a whole new world and each member will cherish the lessons they have learned for the rest of their lives. It was two of the most incredible and challenging weeks of our lives. It stretched our comfort zones to a level where we became limitless. Being absorbed in a culture of pure necessity and true human values inspired us to see where true happiness really comes from. It comes from love, music and faith. This trip freed us from the self-absorbed nature we thrive in to a place of purity.

Y2 History Trip

From March 13th to March 21st, seventeen students and three teachers completed an educational adventure through several European countries. The trip was designed to complement the Y2 Canadian History credit by specifically focusing on both of the World Wars.

The group members in this year's inaugural trip included Amanda Caruana, Karen Palmer, Sarah O'Born, Jason Lee, Amber Irwin, Katelyn Ritchie, Janet Lee, Lily Chan, Andrew Oatway, Jess Ritchie, Ryan Hanley, Nic Burton, Emma Walker, Shannon deJong, Kruti Pandit, Jasmine Charters and Scott Yang. The group was accompanied by faculty Garth Nichols, Laura Miller, and David Ingram.

By the end of the trip, the group had experienced some of the most important war sites in Europe. We walked along the beaches at Dieppe where the Allied Forces were defeated by the Nazis in 1942 and also on Juno Beach, the site of the Canadian D-Day victory on June 6, 1944. We visited Beaumont-Hamel, the site of the Newfoundland slaughter in the Great War and laid a wreath at the Canadian monument at St. Juliaan, the site of the first German gas attacks. We spent some very sombre time in Tyne Cot Cemetery, the largest British Commonwealth cemetery in the world. We also listened to the Last Post being played, as it is every night at 8:00pm under the Menin Gate. Although all of these were unbelievably moving places to visit, the one place that stood out above all others was Vimy Ridge. None of us could imagine the sheer size and majestic presence of the monument. The image of the white stone contrasted beautifully against the blue sky became embedded in all of our minds – a symbol of Canada's ultimate sacrifice that we will never forget.

As educational as the trip was, it was equally fun. To all of those involved on the trip, the memories will last forever. Whether it be singing on the bus, Belgian cuisine, the Ladies' Man Philippe, the hotel video games, the passport problems (and there were quite a few) or any of the numerous sites we visited, the trip will remain with all of us forever.

Well, even though we couldn't manage to win the games that counted, I think all can agree, that it was a fun season. The trip to Connecticut was quite the adventure despite losing in shootouts in the final game. Our goalies, Crocker and Devo, always gave us the upper edge on our opponents. Dumb and Dumber (Fei & McCulloch) were our die-hard players providing plenty of laughs in the dressing room. Smitty, 'the motivational speaker,' always had good advice before games, and our Cap'n Smokey led with his determined attitude. Kali single handily emptied out the health centre bandaging his "gangrene" before each game. Sniper P, the next Matts, was always good for a goal or three especially if the Leafs were doing well. Nasty Nate, was probably the most skilled player on the team who proved to be the difference in many games, and finally Balloch and Brendon, our two prefects, were the masterminds behind the retirement of jersey # 27. Good luck next year wherever you find yourself. I had a great season, and for all of us returning players, "No Heroes, Boys". Nick Brennan.

The year of 2002-2003 Littleside Hockey can be described in a couple of ways. Our spirit was always fresh and bright, ready to excel. Golden. Constantly we put forth an effort. Thankfully we were led by our wonderful coaches who on all those lonely bus rides gave us company and inspiration when everyone seemed to have turned against us. A strong core of young bodies remains for next year and hopefully the departed will not be terribly missed. When game time came, people like Matt Herod, and Graham Jones were the first to up their performance to the task. Captains Prévost, Shirreff, and Moulton provided leadership on the ice and special commendations go out to Ben for leading the charge on the bus. The year also saw a rare CISAA brawl, thankfully our resident enforcer JJ was the only one who managed to get a game misconduct (a sign of things to come). JJ don't worry about it. The long and short of it is the Littleside team was just getting their hands wet, and you can look forward to the team reaching the same heights as last years 2nd place finish soon. To the FYs the captains wish you luck next year again. May the gods shower you with Golden Gifts of victory.

Our season started out a little slow, missing some serves or passes but never lacking in spirit from the bench or on the court. Our coaches, Ms. Camblin and Ms. Bunting, were really encouraging. Each member of our team complemented the next. Amanda Garton would only need a helmet and a shovel to be a miner with all her amazing digs from back court. Ashley Johns showed no mercy towards the other team, who needed to back up when she was serving. Genna Reid could be a bartender with all of her incredible spikes. Amanda Caruana was always the life of the party with her energetic and accurate plays. Karen Frackowiak could set the ball from front, back and center. Ashley's name says it all, moving from good to Grand throughout our season. Meredith Hambrock's persistent serves and motivation helped the team change from "swiss" to "cheddar". Rebecca Gregory could play any position and was very accepting of new hairdos. Andria Mathieson also shared the love for new hairdos, showing constant dedication and determination. We couldn't go wrong with Clarissa Wong on the court, often leaving the opposing team shocked with her power. One of our co-captains Justine Frostad's great plays made the team complete. Julia Bakker worked hard with a smile on her face, and made a fantastically skilled co-captain. Thanks for the great season

The Bigside Girls Hockey team had a great season. Everyone worked tremendously hard in practices to improve their game, even at those dreaded 6:30 AM icetimes. Throughout the season, we only got better, and hungrier for success. The team really came together, and all the hard work paid off with a fourth place finish out of eleven teams in the league. We became experts on the penalty kill, and learned how to "play the box." Along the way, we discovered our talent for Whirly Ball, and got the other team's attention with our cheer "Who's house ... yo mamma's house...". Our team trip to the Trent Canal was a lots of fun, and while we were there, we had a celebrity encounter with Elvis Stjoyko! Thanks to our three coaches, Hodges, de Pencier, and Wright, for all your hard work and support. Mr. de Pencier's unique style always kept us on our toes, Mr. Wright's humour kept us smiling both on and off the ice, and Mr. Hodges's pep talks revved us up for the big games ... atta boy, Elvis. A special thanks to our manager, Sam Widmer. We couldn't have done it without you!

Bigside Volleyball had one of the most successful seasons in TCS history. Led by captains, Erika Schroeder and Erin Branigan, Bigside won the BSS invitational tournament for the fourth consecutive year, and were Kawartha champions for the third year in a row. To cap off an already successful season, the Bears traveled to Ridley for the CISAA championships. In the first round we met archrival Ridley, and beat them 3-1 to move on to the Finals against a strong Holy Trinity team. In a thrilling match with strong performances from Erika, Brenna, Faye and Heather, Trinity prevailed 3-2, to become CISAA champions! It certainly was a season to be remembered, and next year promises to be no different with a strong core of returning players such as Rowen, Birchall, Wilcox, Sobowale and Swift. Many thanks to out wonderful coaches, Lowry and Feddery, for their constant encouragement and guidance.

What can be said about this season that was particularly memorable? How about the 5th place finish at OFSAA for the senior boys? Or maybe it was making overall CISAA, and COSSA champions, one more time. For all of those sweet memories, there were some rougher times too: COSSA was delayed twice due to cold weather, the ice and frustration of Kawartha, not to mention the strangely large amount of injuries and fractures gained. But that didn't stop our team. I think that we had a really enthusiastic group of people to work with - and that made being a captain both easier and really rewarding. From the incredibly large amounts of junk food Laura Biggar would bring (Mrs. Biggar, you make gooood cookies!) to the late hours of the night Roddy would spend waxing the majority of the team's skis (not to mention his own). Everyone gave something to the season, and I think I can safely say that it ended well, in Ottawa. Big thanks to coaches Mr. Hollett and Mr. Black and Mr. Geale; your support, guidance and enthusiasm were what kept us going! Good luck next season, and may the snow be plentiful and the weather, well, not quite so cold!

What can I say about our squash season? Gord lost to a Grade 8 student from Crescent, Newman was for once not the only female on the team, Jesse was not as good as his brother, Duncan only won a game because of default (his opponent crashed nose first into the wall so had to leave), Bob... well Bob's hair just got longer, Lister was Lister and Amar was Amar, and McDonalds made a lot of money from the huge amount of cheeseburgers purchased by squash members who wanted to belong to the cheeseburger century club. In all truth we tried, and tried, and tried some more but were unable to come through with a single Bigside victory, but we all had fun so it didn't really matter!

A year of all out fun and just learning the great game of Squash was what the Littleside players experienced this year. Because of the lack of squash courts in the previous year, the whole team consisted of beginners who had mostly never picked up a squash racquet in their lives! The first tryout included lessons from Mr. Cameron on how to hold a squash racquet, how to "carry the soup", and how to "spank the baby". Our quick learning and addiction to the game showed that the team had natural talent. As the weeks progressed, the team developed into a force that would always impress when they left their matches. Our trips included wild matches with SAC, UCC, Crescent, and Ridley. A great experience was the trip to Mississauga in the Ontario Squash Tournament. Throughout the year, Beebo entertained the team with his jokes and stories during the bus rides. Piccini was always helpful in teaching the team how to put some KICK in our game. Brett always knew how to make excuses when he lost a game. A great season full of laughs and great learning experiences was evident. Special thanks go to Mr. Cameron for his patience and for teaching us the best game in the world!

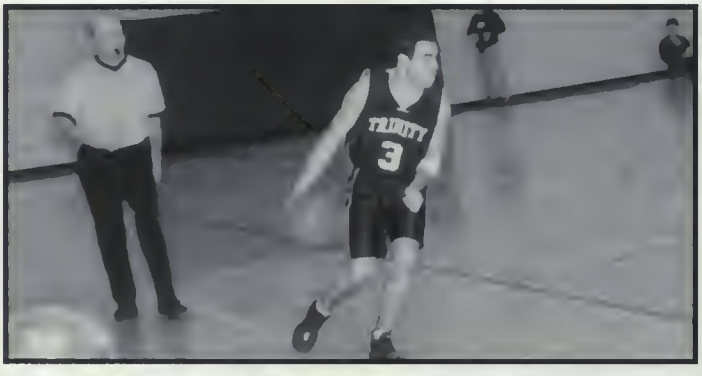

BS Boys Basketball

Coaches: Mr. Christ, Mr. Nichols
Captain: J. Brennan

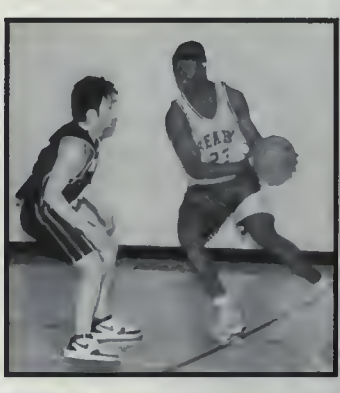

The Bigside Boys Basketball season was unlike any other. When you but together a team with one player from Korea, a Greek from Saudia, a couple of boys from Barbados, Bermuda and Bahamas, a local boy, a kid from Ottawa, another from Toronto and then another from Vancouver, you get an interesting mix. Include the fact that there was only one returning player, it is no wonder that the season was full of suprises and disappointments. Clarke Secondary school is cursed, and Cobourg East got a lot better (or we just got worse). We did win a CISAA game, we made OFSAA, and had a great time winning against St. Paul's in front of their entire school. Kizzle and Trotty kept our spirits up and entertained us on those long bus rides. We want to express our appreciation to our managers, Barb and Dana, as well our coaches, Mr. Nichols and Mr. Christ. Thanks for the great season, boys.

Middleside Basketball had a successful season this year, even though our record didn't show it. We went 0-9 in our league games; however we managed to pull off a victory by dominating Albert early in the season in an exhibition game. The only returning players from last year were D. Johnston, J. Minwalla, and Ja. Lee. D. Kim was our leading scorer and often was responsible for getting us back into games. D. Chung showed Yao Ming like skills at times with his fade away jumpers. A. George-John and J. Shaw were monsters on the boards. Ji. Lee showed that he could play almost any position on the court. D. Rietzkie had a fine shooting touch. Ja. Lee showed improvement over the course of the season. D. Johnston provided leadership and could shoot from anywhere. J. Morrison had an inside and outside game that was unstoppable when he was on fire, and outhustled everyone on the floor every game. S. Jung showed improvement on his shot and court awareness. M. LaFleur motivated the team well. A. Trivedi showed aggressiveness on the defensive end. J. Minwalla, the captain, showed intensity and leadership. Thanks again to our coach, Mr. Pinches, who showed a lot of patience. Good luck to those returning next year.

This season was so great that there is only one legend that may stand out for time as the Greatest legend of all: the story of the Qualifier Buzzer beater. It all started with 10 seconds on the clock with a stuffage like no other from the Toad (Ola Ojo), and then the Aggressive one Alex leapt high above all and grabbed the ball. A time out was called with 6 seconds left. The Legendary Little Bears and one T-Rex and one Toad got the ball on the sideline and got ready to make history. Toad had the ball on the side, he faked one way and shot a pass to the tall woodpecker J-D who faked and shot and sunk the bull on the buzzer. It was a crowd rousing play.

Final Notes

White men can sometimes jump
A T-Rex is untameable
Not all toads are fat and slow
Every body shoots differently especially sons of proctologists
Some Knees have a life of their own
Fouls are a one-way express route to the bench
A basketball player makes an incredibly stupid snowboarder
Even the dead can play basketball
And finally a great team is priceless
You guys were great, good luck next year!

Swimming

Coaches: Mr. Reid, Mrs. Jakic
Captains: V. Kortekaas, G. Guy
MVP: V. Kortekaas, A. Mazar, R. Dillette

We began the season with hopes of great results from the returning veterans and the 17 new additions. To begin with, the swim team competed in the annual U of T Invitational, where the men's team finished first overall, the women placed 6th, and combined TCS was placed 2nd. These fantastic results were followed by a memorable commercial for Osler Hall cookies performed by Sarah Sylvester and Vanessa Kortekaas. We had various CISAA qualifier meets at SAC, our own Jack Burger Sports Centre, and Brock University, where the team managed to grab some top placings. The team was invited back to U of T, where the men defended their title, and the women continued to excel. Next, the team hosted the Kawartha championships where both the men and women captured first place, making the TCS the overall champions. We then went on to host the COSSA championships and, after many top three finishes, we were again able to win the co-ed championship title. A record of 17 members of the team competed in the OFSAA championships. The senior men's relay team won the gold medal, Robbie Dillette won Gold and a Bronze, and Alex Mazar also won Gold.. The graduating swimmers who competed in OFSAA for their last time were Geoff Guy, Vanessa Kortekaas, Sarah Sylvester, and Jen Sharpe. Thanks to all the hard work and dedication that Mr. Reid and Mrs. Jakic put forth, it was truly a successful and memorable season.

RECORD WRITING COMPETITION

SENIOR POETRY WINNER

"An Ode to the Seasons- TCS Style"
Audra Vair

Summer, Winter, Spring and Fall.
How do we keep track of them all?
Well, Fall is easy: School is near,
That institution we hold so dear.
And Winter is the time of toil
When Bears Hibernate, but students roil
At their teachers, for in the haste of Christmas break
Homework was forgot - and the marks now ache.
But Spring is Near! The Snow is Gone!
We're free to lie upon the Lawn.
And watch the Teams at their play
Forgetting all about that English Essay....
But who cares? It's almost Summer!
But that means Exams - What a bummer.

SENIOR SHORT STORY WINNER

"The Neanderthal"
Rachel Farquharson

Before beginning class, Mr. Greatyard jiggled the doorknob to the hallway door, ensuring it was locked. He did it so furiously that it seemed as though he was attempting to remove the knob from the door. He repeated this performance with the doorknob on the door leading from the classroom to his office, before he was sure that he and his students were securely locked in.

The wake of air that Mr. Greatyard produced as he waltzed up and down the rows of desks was much appreciated by his students. The cool breeze helped circulate the stagnant summer air in the ninth grade English classroom. Even Mr. Droit, the headmaster, appreciated Mr. Greatyard's swift-paced style, for there was no need for a fan in his classroom, thus saving on the expense of utilities.

Molly, short with red hair and freckles, snickered as she passed a note containing virulent gossip to her neighbour, but when she caught her teacher's eye, she knew the note would not go unnoticed. "And I assume that that letter is a note from your mother telling me why your homework is incomplete for the third time in a row, Ms. Carroll?" he questioned, addressing Molly by her family name. Molly stammered, waiting for the awkward moment of silence to pass before Mr. Greatyard moved on with his explanation of Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice. It was not that Molly did not like Mr. Greatyard, but he had the effect of making her quite anxious in class, due to his pacing back and forth, weaving through the aisles like a needle through fabric. If Mr. Greatyard had a ball of yarn attached to the back of his belt, by the end of his seventy-minute English class, he would have knitted a sweater the size of the classroom floor.

"Now Ba-ri-annnn," Mr. Greatyard enunciated in his typical tone " can you explain to me how Shakespeare has turned Shylock into a stereotype by making him a usurer?" Brian, an uneasy, soft-spoken boy with thick glasses and head-gear braces, dreaded being called upon in class. He had an unusually difficult time giving simple responses without delivering a garbled dissertation on the subject. Most of his difficulty did not stem from having a hard time composing his thoughts, but lay in the fact that each time he attempted to answer one of Mr. Greatyard's questions, his teacher would make obscene gestures that prevented him from concentrating on what he was trying to say. "Well..." Brian started, just as Mr. Greatyard's hairy finger jabbed the air with a forward thrust of his arm, "Shylock is Jewish, and many Jewish men were..." – two more finger jabs – " well Jewish people like..." But before Brian got through his sentence, Mr. Greatyard grabbed his chin with his left hand, rotated his right wrist twice, allowing his hand to make an "uh-huh, uh-huh" gesture, swiveled himself on the desk upon which he sat, jabbed the air in Brian's direction three more times, screwed his face up as though he was contemplating the mechanics of a perpetual motion machine, and only after standing up and doing what looked like quick-time ballroom steps through the second row of desks, he sat on the window sill with his feet propped up and his knees bent near his shoulders like a monkey.

With his shoulders and back curved over while he walked, his long arms and his abnormally round skull, Mr. Greatyard resembled a Neanderthal. Brian was thinking this when giggles from other students brought his mind back to the classroom. He had lost all train of thought. Ruth, one of Brian's friends, came to his rescue and spoke up, "Shylock is a stereotype because Jewish people are always regarded as having an obsession with money".

"Exactly!" Mr. Greatyard exclaimed excitedly. He danced over to the blackboard, alternating long, languid steps with quick scampers, and scribbled in the most illegible cursive known to man: Shylock-Jewish-Money. Brian, not understanding what had just gone on, wrote down in his notebook: Shylking-Jealous-Mummy, and returned to his daydream about Mr. Greatyard, the hairy ape-man.

It took Mr. Greatyard two large arm flaps to figure out what question he wanted to pose to his students next. "All right, we haven't heard from anyone in the back yet..." he said just as Matthew, who was notoriously late for class, could be heard trying to open the locked door from the hallway. Mr. Greatyard let Matthew in before giving the doorknob a good twist and a yank to make sure it was locked once more. He circled around the back of the classroom and sat down on the first desk of the first row. Meanwhile, Matthew had taken a seat in the back row. "Too tired of sleeping to skip my entire class?" he teased Matthew. Matthew mumbled some inaudible response before slumping low in his desk and shifting his eyes straightforward. Mr. Greatyard was not going to let him get off that easy though. "Matthew, can you tell me how Portia saved Antonio from being killed?" Matthew kept his gaze straight forward. Mr. Greatyard fidgeted as he waited, wiping the corners of his mouth several times with more of a stroke than a wipe. Not wanting to waste any time, he asked someone to help Matthew out. Charlotte, a rather bookish girl, shot her hand up. "Portia pretended to be a lawyer, and reminded Shylock and the court that he could only take a pound of flesh from Antonio, nothing more. No blood, just precisely one pound of flesh. When Shylock realized that he could not remove his pound without taking blood with him, he lost his case and Antonio was saved," she said confidently. While Charlotte was describing Portia's clever ruse, Mr. Greatyard was frantically scribbling bits of words down on the blackboard. He turned around and picked up his battered old copy of The Merchant of Venice, which was missing the cover and was striped pink with highlighted sections like an effeminate jailbird uniform. His students grew tense as they anticipated a reading from the play.

"'This bond doth give thee no jot of blood,'" he read, his voice growing mysteriously quiet at the end of the sentence as if he were chastising a small child for stealing candy from his baby sibling. "'The words expressed are "a pound of flesh". Take then thy bond, take thou thy pound of flesh,' " Mr. Greatyard said, wagging his long, frog-like pointing finger at the end of each sentence. By now he was getting excited, and large balls of spittle were flying from his mouth, landing all around him like large raindrops. He approached Charlotte, while triumphantly reading as though he were personally responsible for saving Antonio, "'But, in the cutting it, if thou dost shed one drop of Christian blood, thy lands and good are, by the laws of Venice, confiscate into the state of Venice.'" Saliva rained down on Charlotte as she listened to her teacher's reading and watched the frenetic movements of his hands.

"PEOPLE, you NEED to be highlighting passages in your book. This passage is one of them. Am I to assume that no one here has a highlighter?" he questioned his stunned students. He flung a bag full of highlighters haphazardly on a desk, barely missing the side of Brian's head, and walked back to the front of the classroom. His briefcase lay flat on his desk with one side opened so that it stood vertically upright. When he sat down at his desk, his briefcase acted like a curtain behind which he could hide. He began fussing around with mysterious objects, which he seemed to take pleasure in hiding there from the rest of the class. He jerked his head up and shuffled his notes.

"All right, I guess class is over for today. Next day I will expect all of you to have finished The Merchant of Venice. Otherwise, you will be asked to leave the class and go to the library. You will lose contribution points and you will miss class discussion. This will generally end up in your failing the course. You will miss every important lesson in life without being present for my teachings every class. You might not even graduate! So read your books!"

With that, Mr. Greatyard dramatically plunked down in his desk chair like an actress who had just delivered a long soliloquy. No sooner had he done this, he curled his back over and began hammering down the keys of his computer as if they were bugs being squashed. Then he got up, rummaged around his office for a few minutes, and sailed down the hall to the teachers' common room with such gusto that the grade eleven art projects on the walls were whipped back and forth, some even ripping away from their hanging fixtures. These escaped paintings twirled and floated to the floor before being trampled by Mr. Greatyard's exiting students.

Each student left the classroom twice as exhausted as when he entered. The frantic energy that their teacher expended each class tired them out, and his constant movement made Brian dizzy. As Charlotte wiped the spit from the top of her hair, Mr. Greatyard yanked open the door to the common room and poked his cabbage-shaped head out. "Charlotte, don't forget the debating meeting at lunch today. Okay, ba-bye!" he said, wagging his fingers and bulging his eyes out before disappearing once more into the common room. Charlotte exhaled, and proceeded to the girls' bathroom to recover before her next class.

First XV Rugby team started out the season with a solid core of veterans returning, and of course our usual South African contingent to help us fill the gaps. The team was cut to only 18 solid players this year with the plan of relying heavily on the First XV. We quickly became a cohesive team unit. Our forwards worked well together despite being outweighed substantially, with our loose forwards always found together on the field. Our backline combined for some formidable pass and run plays to score many tries. Unfortunately, the relentless Canadian winter cancelled all of our exhibition matches forcing us to enter our season without any game experience. We put up a good fight, and we certainly had the ability to win, but we just couldn't pull through for the full 70 minutes. The highlight of the season was our third-place win at the CISIRT tournament held at King's-Edgehill in Nova Scotia to redeem ourselves after last year's poor showing. As the team matured, we could be seen on the field making every tackle, and breaking through opposition with our powerful runners. Our lineout was highly effective, winning many of the offensive and defensive lines. In the end, despite the scores, the First XV was a Bigside Rugby TEAM. Working together and playing together were a lot of fun. Boys, it has been a pleasure.

This year's Middleside Rugby team was made up of a lot of beginners and only a few returning players. Injuries plagued us at the beginning of the season with our starting scrum half having a season-ending injury in our first game. As a result of this injury and others, players were forced to play in unfamiliar positions. Our team didn't make the final tournament, but it was only a matter of a few more feet in a couple of more games, that kept us out. Our coaches, Mr. Stevens and Mr. Robling, were great despite one mishap that left one of our players stranded after stopping for supper. We didn't have a winning season, but it was very educational to the rookie players as well as lots of fun for everyone. Go Rebels!

Littleside Rugby had an interesting season, with many new experiences for all. Players came in with no experience and came out as fully developed rugby players. Thanks to the great captainship of John and Kirk, our team was very organized, and we all got along great! It was a fun experience. Thanks to our coaches, Mr. Keiser and Mr. Hay, for an amazing season. Good luck to those returning next year!

With 10 returning players, 7 recruits and 2 players moving up, Bigside Soccer 2003 looked promising. Though burdened by inconvenient weather, the talent and skill of this year's squad was not to be crippled. Anchoring the defence were E. Dewsbury, L. McLelland, J. Dodd and B. Candlish, who all did a superb job at keeping the ball out of our end, while midfielders S. Gozoren, L. Biggar, E. Kedwell and V. Kortekaas executed brilliant passes to our forwards, L. Clarkie and R. Dickinson. Highlights include: the hurricane-weather during the Albert College Game, avenging a loss to Lakefield 5-2, beating Rosseau Lake 10-1, the no-handshake policy (thank you, SARS), J. Dodd's broken toes (thank you, Ingram) and of course the millions of pounds of homemade cookies that were consumed this season! Though we lost in the semi-finals against a strong Appleby squad, this season saw one of the most successful Bigside Girls Soccer teams the school has ever produced. Of course, none of this would have been possible without the constant support and guidance of the 'management.' Thanks must go out to our superb manager, K. "Mad Skills" Ozaki, for schooling us time after time, and of course our Coaches Robert and Christ, whose knowledge of the game and genuine love for soccer were infectious. With ten returning players, including MVP and Distinction Award winner L. Biggar, next year's squad promises to continue the tradition of TCS soccer excellence. Thanks everyone, it truly was a pleasure!

It was a very successful season for TCS rowing. The junior men's eight consisted of a majority of novice rowers; over the season their boat improved greatly and pushed many crews down the course at CSSRA's. The junior women had a very strong crew, placing very well at all our regattas as well as making TCS history as the first junior crew to ever medal at CSSRAs. The senior women eight had an amazing and very successful season. Eleven dedicated girls and a talented coach provided the recipe for a fast boat. Qualifying for semis at CSSRAs was just a bonus. A weekend up in Muskoka at the Sylvesters' cottage upped their spirits. Garth managed to win a game of scattergories but obviously he was cheating! Never forget - 'you have Beautiful Eyschs'. Senior men rowed a four and pair, working hard and having excellent races at CSSRAs of course with Wilson by their side cheering them on. Highlights of the season included winning cakes at the Mother's Day Regatta, Sunday at the Henley, Muskoka training camp, Kingston row, and the three-week long try-outs. All in all, the season was a lot of fun, full of laughs and great memories. Thanks to the coaches, Hamilton, Valois, O'Reilly, and Nichols.

Coming into this year's season with 22 of 36 players being brand new to the game, it's safe to say that we had a pretty rocky start. But thanks to the heart filled spirit of the team and two amazing coaches (Ms. Collins and Mr. Black), we managed to have a very fun and rewarding season. We had more than our fair share of injuries (including a broken leg and numerous concussions), which could have discouraged the team's newcomers, but it didn't. The season began with a game played in a hailstorm, and after a few weeks of intense practice, the girls caught on quickly, and played their hardest. Ms. Collins introduced a very rigorous fitness element to our practices this year, leaving us worn out, but begging for more (haha). Highlights of the season included performances of the Haka by "Ginormous" Black, and our amazing final game fought against Ridley where we scored our one and only try of the season. Girls, your captains would just like to thank you for giving us one of the most memorable last seasons we could have hoped for, playing rugby for Trinity. See you at the Old Girls game next year! Let's get dirty girls!

To say Bigside Baseball had an average year would be quite the understatement. With all but three starters returning, there was no doubt that Trinity Baseball was destined to have a great year. Despite our extremely slow start, we rebounded quite nicely and finished the season winning four of our next five games. This season also marked a few important "firsts" in Trinity Baseball history. For the first time ever, Trinity Baseball captured the Trinity Invitational Championship, defeating SAC and Bowmanville, and the LOSSA East Division Championship, finishing 5-1 in league play and 3rd out of 23 teams. As for how we did in the playoffs, well…that's another story. Our success was due in large part to our award winners Morrison, Robinson, and Evans, but also to Knowles, Riihiluoma, Montgomery, Smart and Ji-Soo, who stepped up big time. Along the way, there were some memorable highlights: JoMo's back to back complete game wins, Christian's lack of a Passport at the U.S. border, Gadd's mad dash to win the game, Smokey and Rimmer's first career homeruns, and Phil…simply for being Phil. On behalf of the guys, we'd like to thank Coaches Hooper, Ingram, and Gilmore for all their help and humour this year. A HUGE thanks also goes out to Coaches Traugott and Langford for being the most dedicated, hard working, and enthusiastic coaches any of us have ever played for. Guys: Thanks for a memorable four years. I'm gonna miss it.

Bigside Softball had a perfect season! At tryouts we gained a lot of new talent, Vanessa, Iman, Sarah and Meredith, among others! When the season finally started, it was full of convincing wins over our competition. We finished the season first in our division with a perfect 5-0 record, and went into the final tournament hoping for the best. Hosting the final tournament, we played remarkably and won the gold medal, a FIRST in TCS Softball history. It couldn't have happened to a better bunch of girls - you're all superstars! Outscoring the opposition 119-8 and going 8-0 is not an easy task; it took a lot of hard work and dedication from everybody on the team. Highlights of the season include the shock on people's faces as Sam's pitches went flying by, Laura T's "slide" into second, the famous bus trip to Havergal and the nicknames that followed (Bubblez!), Tina's double play and Becca's hits, Amanda and her spitz, Susie and her smiles, standing in the middle of chapel as Mr Wright awards a half day, and Tottie's trip over the non-existent hole! A big thanks to our coaches who did a great job coaching us! To the grads, Laura, Tina, Dana and Stacey, what a great way to end our TCS softball careers! To the returning girls, you have a lot of talent - have fun next year and good luck!

This year's tennis season was very successful and also tons of fun. There were mostly beginners and only two veterans on the team. Even though we had a rough start, losing to Havergal, we bounced back and won all our remaining games. Kelly, our 2nd singles player, improved her attitude drastically and came out 3rd in CISAA finals along with Emily, our 3rd singles player and "Human Wall". Our first doubles players, Britta and Tem, always played with smiles and worked well together and our 2nd and 3rd doubles team, which consisted of some mix of our Rachels, Lalitha, Maggie, Claudia, and Christina all improved drastically and were a strong asset to the team. Many thanks to Zack 'manager for a day' Osborne and, of course, Mrs. Powles, for teaching us the art of "squennis" and being a great coach. For next year's girls, remember to "make some racket." Thanks for a great season!

"Littleside Soccer 2003"

Wow what a season this spring has been,
Littleside soccer had the most awesome team.
We started in Kingston, won a game or 2 there,
Then ended at Lakefield, giving that team a scare.
Our team had Candice and Shannon, Chappy and Bakker,
Clemmie, our Aussie, gave a kick to soccer.
There was Robyn and Rachel, and the Alli connection,
With those 2 on defence, Mikel had a lot of protection.
Then came Lily and Mallory, Rachelle and Justine.
Who, with Sarah and Genna, really added to the team!
With Mathieson and Murphy, Nadine and Erin,
Our team was sure to have more than just one win.
Littleside soccer had a great season,
Coach Ramsay and Pain were the main reason!
So thanks to them, and to Gabriel too,
Who was our keeper-trainer, and height 4 foot 2!
From Alli's favourite ref, and the Mary-Kate and Ashley,
To our crazy fun bus rides going to Ridley.
Through the taping and jerseys, the shorts and the cleats,
Remember: it's not in your boots, it's in your feet!
All in all, this team has been a success,
For those of us staying, next year will be the best
For those of us leaving, it's been a blast!
Thanks for the season, we wish it could last.

The season began with practices taking place inside of the squash courts and gyms. While we could not see the benefits in this, Mrs. Powles assured us that it would help out in the long run. Once weather began to play our way, we moved outside, making full use of the School courts as well as the new tennis courts found at the bottom of Mount Trinity. On the tennis courts, it was found that players had developed new speed as a result of being confined in the squash courts. We were off to a good start. However, after playing our first few games, we found it more difficult to pull off a victory than we had anticipated. Matches against professionally competing players were more of a learning experience than anything. Despite some drastic losses, our team managed to pull off a respectable finale at Mayfair, gaining at least as much as we lost. It is was an accomplishment to bring unity to such an international group: captain Mike Skinner from Bermuda, Stefan Chin from Trinidad, Anthony Kelamis from Saudi Arabia, Tapio Nuotio from Finland, Johnny Gomes from Brazil, Victor Sander from Germany, and Canadians Jason Leung, Ian Mathieson, and Joel Leavitt.

Throughout the short season of Littleside Girls Tennis there were many unforgettable moments. The small group of seven plus two South-African exchange students with the help of Mrs. Powles embarked on a season full of lasting memories and impressive results. The end result for the team was third place at the CISAAs. The team was made up of three doubles teams and three singles teams. Ashley Grand, Moya Morton and Jen were the three singles players, winning almost all of their games. The three doubles teams consisted of Shalini Aggarwal, Joele Lang, Charlene Park, Caitlyn Byrne, Christie Plathe, and Michelle Mitchell. We varied in experience and skill levels; however, with the generous help of Rohan, our other coach, we were able to succeed in all of our matches. Although the season was quite short due to the weather and matches, we were still able to improve our skills and abilites to play in different situations. Our season was packed with memories that will last forever. Some of these include having Rohan as our assistant coach, the debating with the CISAA coordinator about getting third place medals, the bus rides, and the competitions for "skorchiness." The season was great. Many thanks to our two coaches, Mrs. Powles and Rohan.

Littleside Boys Tennis had an interesting season, with many new experiences for all. Althougth some of our players came in with little experience, they showed remarkable improvement over the course of the season. Despite to the great variety of boys, our team was very organized and we all got along great! The whole experience was a lot of fun.Thanks to our coach, Mrs. Powles, for an amazing season. Good luck to those returning next year!

Trinity's first XI had an exciting and emotional season. Once again it came down to the last match of the season against UCC to determine the CISAA champion. Our first match of the season was against SAC which we won comfortably, scoring a massive 194 runs with A. Bedi and S. Hutchinson combining for 132 runs and M. Trott taking 8 wickets, eventually ending the season with 17 wickets in total. We followed the opening victory with two more against Ajax Cricket Club, and another against St. Catherine's Cricket Club due to a spectacular knock of 96 not out by A. Bedi. We then broke our winning streak by losing to UCC after bowling them out for 49 due to poor performance with the bat. Our penultimate game was against SAC, needing to win to stay in the race for the championship. We beat SAC after scoring 118 runs and bowling them out for 82, with S. Hutchinson scoring 30 runs and taking 6 wickets. We then went to UCC to play for the championship in poor weather conditions, with rain making for a late start. After fielding solidly, with A. George-John taking a brilliant catch, and N. Swan playing superbly behind the stumps, and getting UCC all out for just over 100, our hopes were high. However, another atrocious batting performance left as at a mere 37 runs all out, which gave us second place in the CISAA league. Thanks for a wonderful season guys, good luck next year.

I would like to start of by thanking our coaches, Ms. Martin and Mr. Ayotte, for a great golfing season. They had to put up with bad weather, a couple of stray golf balls, and some broken windows! To the players, congratulations on another successful season. Ken, Nate, and Ian: great season and good luck next year. Hit those golf courses this summer and I'm sure you might get better. To the girls, this season was amazing. The three of you, Sam, Heather and McFadden, played superbly and were able to win the CISAA girls championship which is an exraordinary accomplishment. Sam, we will be expecting the same results next year. Keep on swinging, and good luck next year.

The 2003 track and field session was yet another success here at Trinity College School. We had some amazing results from our regulars, Matt Gentles and Alex Bradshaw, and an exciting new comer, Marco Carey. Thanks to the coaches for the time and energy that they put into the track program to make us, the runners and competitors, race and compete much better. The season begin way back with practices in the rain and cold and ended in the sunlight and warmth in the great month of May. We look forward to next year. Good luck to all the grads!

The sport of Equestrian takes great levels of dedication, devotion, patience and love for the sport. The team members have traveled to the different barns throughout the year, a long journey for what never seems to be enough time spent at the stables. Training their horses in different disciplines of the sport, be it Hunter, Dressage or Eventing, the results have been very rewarding. We have all fared very well at the interschool competitions, both locally and out in B.C. Our continuous hard effort has brought about great improvement for all of the riders. Congratulations to Jess for winning the most improved rider award. Great job to Erin and Kristina for winning the award for outstanding contribution; your elegance and dedication in the sport make you both great role models. Kudos must also go to Shalini and Kristen for their quiet progress which has made them both lovely riders. A special thank you to our amazing coaches - your hard work and great advice most certainly do not go unappreciated. Also, thank you so much for your organization, Mrs. Dew. Overall, it was a fantastic year and congratulations to everyone!

2003 Breakfast Olympics

Breakfast Olympics 2003 was indeed an event to be remembered. Ten houses gathered on the terraces to compete in various skill-testing events such as the tim-bit binge, the orange juice chug, the blindfolded cereal and of course, the final obstacle course. Memorable moments included: I. Rahilly heisting timbits, G. Biggar and R. Edwards' 'pajamas,' the Bickle House cheer, and of course the infamous pantsing of E. Crocker! In the end, Hodgetts House prevailed victorious due to their exemplary performance in all events.

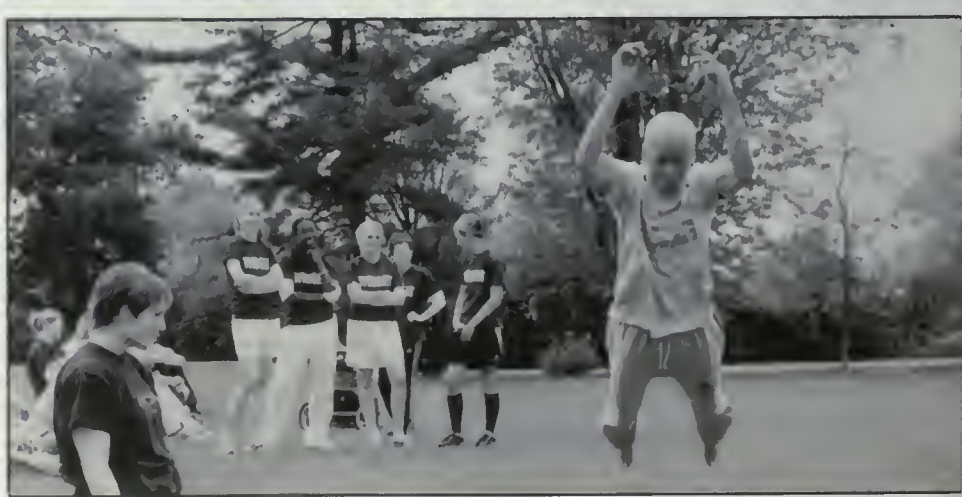

2003 House Olympics

This spring marked the second annual Trinity Olympics, a competition in which ten Houses vie for the coveted Smelly Shoe Award. The afternoon began with various field events such as the soccer kick, the baseball throw and the standing long jump. For the running events, the entire School gathered around to support their Houses in competitions such as the NUR, the once around, and of course the relay events. The final competition of the day was the true test of House strength— the tug-of-war held on the terraces. The 2003 winners of the Smelly Shoe Award was Wright House and, for the second year in a row, Bethune House. It was an event full of intense House spirit, and much thanks must be given to Mr. Wright, the property department, and the various teachers who helped to make this event possible!

Houses

Bethune House

Bethune certainly had an outstanding year, full of success and triumph. As always, we sat on top of the school in every house event which didn't count for Langmuir Cup points, but it made no difference because the experience we all shared as a house was more rewarding than any trophy. The events we excelled in were unforgettable, ranging from house Basketball and Volleyball (Victor's favourite), to Ultimate Frisbee and Breakfast Olympics (where Crocker exposed his true "8:30 a.m.-self"). House plays were another success since the whole gang got into it, especially Ben Martin who won best actor. House Olympics were a climactic finale to our insurmountable year, because when the time came for the tug-o-war, we destroyed every single boys' House, and dominated 40 girls (who were assisted by Campbell Hall)! For the second time in a row Bethune is inscribed proudly on the "Smelly Show Award", and I have faith it will return there often. This year would not have been possible without the help and support of the following people: Firstly to Shelly, Jopy, Linda and Rita, thank you for cleaning up our messes and greeting us with smiles everyday. Keiser, you were a fantastic housemaster to work with, and I know you'll continue your excellent leadership with the next batch of Bulldogs. To Pinches, (who made 3:00 a.m. fire alarms fun) and Black (who always had a laugh... or three), you will both be missed greatly. To all eight of our fallen brothers, your spirits still live within Bethune's stony walls. Conyers and Dixon, the house is safe in your hands, so on behalf of all the grads of 2003 I wish you two the best of luck (I know you'll do us proud). To all you future Bulldogs out there, respect the house, set an example for the rest of the school, and keep our traditions alive.

Bickle House

It's been a good year. A real good year. Not only did this year's Bickle boys have fewer suspensions and expulsions than any other of the previous few years, but we also had a good run at the Langmuir. The juniors were excellent, and the seniors, well whatever, we're gone now. Congrats to the juniors for succesfully putting to shame all other houses in house sports and most importantly breaking down the mechanics of the debating-machine house, Ketchum. Watch out class of 2005, Bickle is taking the Langmuir! (Obviously led by the likes of Maxwell and the D-oh-double-SHIZZLE! Word up T-KIZZLE) Anyways, I would like to thank, on behalf of the house, Mr. Allen, Mr. Hargraft, and his amazing replacement Mr. Ingram, their accommodating families as well as all of the cleaning ladies and laundry staff. Thanks to our Housemasters for keeping us in good form and keeping a sense of humour by making fun of Kali's clothes, Kali's relationships, Knowlesnothing, Kali, the Frenchmen, and the islanders. Oh and Kali. To the Bickle grads, you know we're practically like brothers, good luck in whatever you do next year. To the islanders, keep up your English, and to the boys staying in Ontario, I hope we stay in touch. As was done with me, I would like to pass on the torch to Nick and Matt. Take care of the House and good luck with Mr. Allen and Mr. Hayter next year…Cause if you don't, I'll be back and I'm going to take over again. I trust you guys can do a good job. I would personally like to thank Ricky, everyone's favorite separatist, for helping me do what needed to be done this year. I would also like to thank all the Bickle boys for having some fun and trusting the OACs in our plans, regardless of the fact that you may have had to be woken up at 5 to go lose your voices screaming at Burns house, or to play soccer in the snow on the coldest day of the winter. Good luck next year, and good show, boys.

Brent House

Brent has always had a reputation of being a strong House, and this year has been no different. With a strong group of grads, and promising leaders in the younger years, the house pretty much ran itself. With two great Housemasters, Campbell and Garth, our Head of Discipline Bob Parker, and his right-hand man Rohn Knowles, they kept our boys in line. With our beloved Roderick to take their place, I'm sure that the House will learn, and continue to act like gentlemen. In House sports our seniors claimed both Basketball and Volleyball Championships. Our Debating rep, Mike McCulloch, made a stellar effort as a dancer both on and off the debating tables.

I'd like to welcome Mr. Yhard into Brent seeing as how Garth is heading out to B.C. Good luck with that, we'll miss you, and I'm sure he'll fit right in with a little help from our Year 4s. With a large group of former dayboys joining Brent next year, their skills and talents will be warmly welcomed. Next year looks quite promising. Good luck to Whitey and Joel - I'm sure you boys will do an amazing job. Looking back on a few experiences of my five years in Brent, many things have changed. The average height of the school dropped about three inches, Grade Nines got attitude, and Osler got a lot better! I'm the only boy this year who's been in Brent for the five year run, and watching and living with guys like Ben, Jamsheed, Urquhart for four years has been quite the experience. Bakker, McCulloch, Skinner, Sam, and Zack soon after. Bob, Bill, Rahilly, Heckner, Rohn, Chin and Terence. Then Matty and Shaw this year.

Will Dempster said it well, "Regardless if you're new to Brent or old, remember how many grads have loved that building, keep the peace within the house and rule the School for as long as you're there." Whitey and Joel, you guys can take the cup next year, best of luck to you and the House. It's been fun…

Burns House

Burns House was as Red Hot as ever this year. We started off strong, winning the Oxford Cup, again, and this was just the beginning. For the first time in seven years, Burns House made it to the Senior House Debating Finals! This wasn't much of a surprise considering the amount of talent and intelligence that can be found within the walls of Burns House … Our white water rafting trip right before exams was amazing. Everyone who came had a great time! We'll never forget the dance party on the yellow school bus. This year, Burns House had an amazing group of girls, and though we're sad to leave, I know Mel and Robyn will keep everyone in line next year. We'll always remember the grade 9s who would never go to bed (Chloe and Alex), House "initiation" at the beginning of the year… "Shine Jesus Shine" will always be our song, the music STILL blaring from Mel and Amy's rooms ... Vanessa's forgotten keys in every single room of the house and being stuck in the shower without a towel, pranks against Ketchum and against Scott, Vicky's hilarious crushes, Megan and Kristen pulling all-nighters every night, the fireworks from the so-called "Brent Boys" (Steph, it was some OACs!) To all returning Burnsites, good luck, it'll be great! To Feds and Steph, thanks for a great year, you will most definitely be missed next year! And to all the grads, good luck in whatever you do, it's been a blast!! Thanks for the memories!!

Hodgetts House

Another great Hodgetts year has come and gone. Robin and I took the helm for what was a year of big improvement for the House - mainly because we lost all those loser kids to Orchard - which left us with Grade A Ho's. The new HoHL mini stick hockey league took off this year with great success, despite Theresa's and Rigby's complaints about the new "arena" style lounge. But seriously, a big thanks to Theresa whose tireless work always goes unnoticed; it must be hard cleaning up after 60 boys every day! Thanks! For the OACs though the real battles took place in the office for Diddy Kong champion, and the ongoing debate between Taylor and Robin as to whose character is Diddy. Hodgetts House won breakfast Olympics this year thanks to the legible cheeks of Graeme and Russ, Brock's expert chug techniques, and the self stuffing John Bird. Hodgetts House, along with the innovative tuck shop raised a total sum of $1700 dollars for Jamaica self help. A huge thanks to Pat Morrison for being head of fundraising and a big thanks to the tuck shop's major consumer, David Morrison! Adam See managed to skip both chapel and quarters sits for the entire third term - congrats Adam. Hodgetts also earned a new reputation this year in House Plays, with the "There's no actual Islander accent" routine which was sure to turn a few heads! The junior boys Ho X-country team was on fire this year at House Olympics. Moulton, Edwards, Murray, Stirrett-Wood and Fishlock all gave us the extra edge. Never before have we come so close to a debate final - congrats to the finalist junior master-debaters! Thanks to Mr. Large and Mr. Mandryk for some great faculty leadership and motivation. Best of luck to Tirelli and Biggs next year. If Robin and I can do it, anyone can! Finally, a huge thanks to the graduates of HO-03. Begro, Charters, Janicki, Maynard, Taylor, See, Bayer, Bainton, Harman and most importantly…Hinchliffe. You guys are awesome and we couldn't have scored a better crew. It'll be hard to top you boys!

Ketchum House

I'd fit in. I had fit in like a puzzle piece … in the right spot, everyone else accepted me, and we all completed the family. I started calling it home after a month of school and I still do after three years. Four years ago I remember receiving a letter from Traugott. At the time I thought I was special because it was only for me and it was personal. It was the beginning of summer and she was already welcoming me to 'the best House' at TCS. How reassuring? Back then I could say I was gullible, because I got extremely excited and felt even more lucky that I was in the best House. How could I have known? Nonetheless, my anxiety and hopes were satisfied for the rest of my career as a Ketchumite and for that I thank everyone. For me, Ketchum was the best House. All in one - I enjoyed, hated, loved, cried, smiled, hugged … all at the same time. I do believe, however, my feelings are probably the same for every member of Ketchum House. We lived, loved, and laughed together in the only boarding house that stands as a separate entity amongst the School grounds. I thank every grad this year for their great leadership and together we end another year with the bar a bit higher. We won Senior Debates for the fifth time. We won Senior House Sports for Basketball. We've made each individual bond amongst every Ketchumite stronger, and I hope with the new leaders of next year it will only improve. This energy has been building up and has never stopped. This year it has been at an all time high, almost ready to explode, and I am sure next year it will only get better. Everyone is to thank for making this an unforgettable experience!

Orchard House

It was a new beginning for the men of Orchard House. No question O-House was talented this year. We had a little bit of everything. We had the athletes, scholars, musicians, comedians, and most importantly, we had the attitude.

The members of our House had the confidence to succeed and the desire to become the best. Although we didn't ALWAYS live up to our capabilities, we had fun trying. A few highlights of our year included: reaching the junior house sports finals, the senior debating semifinals, having three distinction award winners, and capturing the Bowling for Millions championship. Not to mention, we also dished out the most money ($400+) on the cake auction … we'll pay it back, don't worry! When we weren't busy maintaining our scholarly status, we had a few memorable moments outside of class. Some include: Siksay's Dead Fish, Warren's surprise hug at House Meeting, having the most "creative" Christmas tree around, "Optional Chapel Day" from Mr. Cameron, Piccini's victory in the "Sundae" eating contest at House Dinner, our new killer stereo, and Kemp's first appearance at an Orchard House Meeting…in May.

Amar, my "pahji", you were not only the school's best cricketer, but also the hardest working (and funniest) assistant HOH around. To Cory and Mr. Cameron, thanks for all the extra chapel skips … and for your guidance and help whenever any of us needed it. It was much appreciated and this House could not run without your hard work, enthusiasm, and dedication. To the Inaugural O-House Class of 2003, you boys REALLY knew how to have fun. You were all a great bunch, and it was a pleasure to share my last year with all of you. To Dylan and Garton, congrats on becoming HOH's. Keep the "Nigeria" alive and good luck…you'll do great!

I hope those returning will have the motivation and drive to capture the Langmuir Cup. You guys definitely have the potential to do it and, if you work together, it'll happen. Trust me. Do us Grads all a favour and help bring this house to where it belongs…to the top. Peace.

Dear Haddy, Erin, Alex, Jasmine, Chrystina, Vanessa, Emily D., Jenn, Whitney, Amanda, Priya, Amber, Lalitha, Rachelle, Ashleigh, Lesley, Brie, Heather, Jocelyn, Jessica N., Charlene, Lindsay, Emily R., Jess R., Jennie, Jess S., Brooke, Hayley, Laura, Emma, Mrs. Beck, Ms. Hands – we cannot thank you enough for making this the most wonderful year for both of us. We are so proud to be members of Rigby House and to have been a part of something so meaningful. The warmth and brilliance of each and every one of you is what makes Rigby a place that we love. Even at the end of our worst days, you always managed to lift our spirits with your dancing, singing and contagious laughter that fills the halls. Over the last few months you have taught us a great deal about friendship, commitment and enthusiasm. We now know, that House sports are not about winning or losing but rather about the face paint and the fun; that there is nothing sexier than a pair of bowling shoes and capris; the importance of being thorough – especially where attendance in chapel is concerned; and not to be afraid to break into spontaneous song, just for the love of it! We wonder whether we will ever be able to express to you how much you mean to us and how fortunate we know we are to have met you all. Though the time has come for us to pass the flask, we know that it will be in good hands. We have no doubt that the future of Rigby will be bright. No matter where you go in your lives or what amazing things you will do, we know we will see you shine like shooting stars. Mmm Mmm - and let it roll!

Scott House

It's not an army, it's not Scurns...the name SCOTT says it all! Well, what can I say besides the fact that it was an AWESOME year?!?! We started the year with an amazing trip to Tony and Tina's wedding, where I'd like to think everyone in the house learned SOME dance moves. From then on, Scott officially entered its eleventh year of being the BEST GIRLS HOUSE at TCS! Nowhere else could you hear a girl yell "HOUSE MEETING!!!" so loud (we should win the Langmiur for that). Never will you take part in so many pointless late night conversations, but hey, if that makes us laugh, let's keep doing it. Through it all, this year in Scott meant tons of laughter, unforgettable times, as well as green and purple pride! I couldn't ask to be Head of a cooler House! Never will House sports, pizza parties, House dinners, funky green bowler hats, pranks (!) leave my mind! We really made an impact when it came to showing a bit of our artistic side...props to everyone that helped out with the House play! To Britta and Sophie ... best of luck next year! You guys are going to do an awesome job ... take Scott into its twelfth year of thriving girls!!! Hammy and Broughy, thanks for all the great times! You two pushed Scott to be what it was meant to be ... TRULY AMAZING! To this year's grads, best of luck next year wherever you are! It's been a blast, oh just one more thing ... Hey Burns, got any cups? Cause we want YOU in the army! Thanks to EVERYONE in the House - you are the ones that made it such a great year!

Wright House

With 36 talented girls, two fantastic Housemasters, a new facility, and one turtle, Wright House has shown everyone that new is always better! Ever since we stepped foot in our new House ten months ago, new traditions have been made, friendships have been formed, and incredible accomplishments have been achieved despite the small population of our House. For instance, Wright won the "dirty shoe" in House Olympics, with more than double the amount of points of the 2nd placed team! Some interesting facts of our first year: we had premium access to the student parking lot/LeVan buses, put up with all the derogatory music of the Orchard boys, had one outstanding House play, and had the most popular change room in the School! Our first year of success would not have been possible without the wonderful support of our two Housemasters, Mrs. Ayotte and Ms. Hillier. You ladies truly knew how to have a good time! Emily, I couldn't have asked for a better Assistant Head of House! And to Chris, Theresa and Squidy, thanks for keeping the house clean. Good luck to our Heads of House next year, Jess and Tem, and our new Housemaster. I have complete faith that you will lead the House to further success…just watch out for Ms Hillier, she's a crazy one! To the first official grads: Stacey, Amy, Rachel, Emily, Nikki, Laura, Erika, and Sara, good luck with everything! To the returning girls, show everyone what the Best House can do! We made an incredible year of history and had lots of fun. I want to thank every single one of you for the memories we made and the laughs we shared.

Headmaster's Address Speech Day - June 13, 2003

Good morning everyone.

Although I've done it many times, I'm always nervous about this speech. The Leaving Class is on campus together for the last time; and their proud families are all here. The Grads are focused and reflective. I haven't had a chance to bore them … yet. Most important, this is such a watershed day in their life, and I would love to say something truly inspiring or memorable to them. Still, when I reviewed past Speech Day addresses, I couldn't help but notice a distinct similarity in approach. I tend to say roughly the same sort of thing every year. In fact, I was wondering if someone who has been around here for six years – like Adam See – couldn't, himself, deliver this Speech (Adam – stay put).

At any rate, my message each year does not change much, to the extent that one could almost get someone else to give this speech. I was tempted to do that today until I heard about Professor Feinmann of Cornell University. He was a celebrated nuclear physicist and Cornell was so proud of him that they gave him a big car and a chauffeur, named Mel, and sent him on a lecture tour. He toured the campuses of America, giving his brilliant lecture on Relativity with Mel the chauffeur tucked away at the back of the hall reading 'People' magazine. The time came when Mel said, "Professor Feinmann, I have heard your speech so many times, I reckon I could make it as good as you can". "Fine" Feinmann said, "You give me your uniform and your 'People' magazine, and I'll give you my tweed jacket – you give the lecture." So, they were at Princeton and the chauffeur held forth on Relativity for forty minutes and sat down to a rapturous applause. The President of the university rose unexpectedly and said "We have a few minutes left – are there any questions?" An earnest under-graduate asked a complex, convoluted question that lasted for three minutes. So Mel slowly rose to give his answer and said "That is the dumbest question on Relativity I have ever heard. In fact, it is so dumb that I am going to ask my chauffeur at the back of the room to answer it."

So, I am going to make this speech.

Mr. Chairman, Governors, Class of 2003, faculty, parents, families, guests and students of Trinity College School. Welcome to the Prize Giving component of Speech Day on this our 138th year as the best co-ed independent school in Port Hope – perhaps the world. We are here for two prime reasons:

1) to celebrate achievement throughout the whole Senior School but always in the context of humility, recognizing at all times how blessed we are to be at this School, to be in Canada, to be free, to be safe, and to have a chance for prosperity and happiness simply through our own work and wit;
2) we are also here to bid farewell to these 143 graduates before me with all due acknowledgement of what they have meant to us and how they have shaped the School in recent years.

I am making the second major speech on Speech day. The first, and by all means the most important, was delivered jointly by our Head Girl and Head Boy a few hours ago in Chapel. They did a marvellous job summing up the TCS experience and representing the collective sentiment of this class: Heather, with what her beloved Trinity means to her and everyone could relate to it, and Brendon with the fabulous opportunity he had, indeed, you all had. Thank you, Brendon and Heather, for speaking so well on behalf of your class. And, indeed, thanks to Father Don and all the students who participated in making the Leaving Class Chapel Service such a phenomenal way to begin this happy day. Today, the day on which this class in front of me becomes Old Boys and Old Girls, I want to talk about Reunions, particularly the phenomenon that I saw a month ago and that I witness every Reunion Weekend. I am referring to those intangible gifts that are picked up at TCS ... whether by design, osmosis, fate or fluke ... they occur; furthermore, they stay.

On the Friday night of Reunion Weekend, I visited with the Class of '53 at the Woodlawn Inn on their 50th Reunion. The next evening, at the big Reunion Dinner right here, with all the Reunion years, I sat with the Class of '98 - it was their 5th Reunion. The gentlemen in the Class of '53, and the gentlemen and ladies of the Class of '98 were all happy to be back, were all interested in what was going on now at their School, were all warmly greeted by their former classmates. But, the most remarkable thing was that the two classes, 45 years apart, were talking about exactly the same things. It didn't matter if they had grey hair, or dyed hair and a goatee, they were insulting each other, teasing each other, calling each other nicknames like Crunch, Pablo, Fuzzy, Eastern, and Spam, telling stories, deliciously ripened by time, especially '53. They talked about sneaking out and pranks. They talked about Chapel, bus rides and food (not necessarily in that order). They talked about the Ridley game – the one that got away! They talked about their teachers – great stories about their teachers – only the names and methods of punishment were different. They mentioned that the teachers who pushed them the hardest were the most revered. They talked about tradition – how hokey it was initially and how it anchors them now. But the thing that dominated their conversations was their friends and the lessons learned in a community they were allowed to create. Sure they had all learned the quadratic equation and read a few Shakespearean Sonnets but, in Mark Twain terms, they tried not to let all this schooling interfere with their education. They had a chance to go through something quite remarkable, together, at a crucial time in their lives when their own values and standards were forming. They had a chance to learn how to discriminate between good opportunities and good temptations. They could discover how, in not taking yourself too seriously, you are taken seriously. They could find out whether lying is a good idea or not – not because some rule says it's bad, but through private and personal experience of their own making. They could learn what makes a person a real leader regardless of office or title. They had a chance to separate in their mind true generosity from obligation, and to wrestle with the roots of intolerance while being surrounded with such cultural diversity, especially '98. When they were students here, they had been thrown together and told to make the best of it. They went through all the stages of a TCS career together, from initial terror to contained anxiety, to secure industry, to breezy familiarity, to homelike comfort and, finally, to teary departure. This is a sure recipe for lifelong friends and a very personal insight into what works and what doesn't work in human enterprises – two things that are a natural by-product of a TCS education. Anyway, two classes, two generations apart saying essentially the same thing because of what they had in common – TCS. I am sure it is hard for this Leaving Class to think about its 5 year Reunion, to say nothing of its 50th. But what about the intervening years? It is always interesting to postulate what these grads will be up to in 15 years.

- Matt Bond and Bryan Sutherland will be married and will skateboard down the aisle together
- George Cooper may have several children who speak French
- Antonio will be the world's best Doorman – "Good morning."- "How are you?"

- Ø Ben Johnson will be a skeleton
- Ø Gord Urquhart will have taken a shower
- Ø Dustin Marshall will be a chimney sweep
- Ø Rob Deane – only grad still attending AA
- Ø Amy Campbell will be enjoying Davey Time
- Ø T.J. Lloyd will be permanently hunched over by the weight of his blazer
- Ø Joe Saunders will open a reptile centre "Snakes R Us"
- Ø Duncan Montgomery will own Katar
- Ø Stefan Chin – Speech Therapist

15 years from now:

- Ø Laura Macklin and Nate Caruana will have been married 17 years
- Ø Tina and Alex Willison will live together in a little house with a little orchard outside (for old times' sake)
- Ø Michael McCulloch will be the next white Michael Jackson
- Ø Jen Sharpe – living on Rodeo Drive, working for Gucci
- Ø Rob Patterson - opens a hair removal and waxing boutique
- Ø Robin Charters and Vanessa Kortekaas – open a Day Care
- Ø Dominik Heckner – opens a hardware store and displays all his nails, nuts and bolts on his face
- Ø Rohn Knowles, who denies being related to Christian, will open a Tim Hortons in the Bahamas so he can Roll up the Rimmer to win
- Ø Johnny Monteiro will be the coach of the Brazilian National Hockey Team and wear tight little pants behind the bench
- Ø Brady McCarthy will be living in the White House – on the corner of Ward and Deblaquire – so Megan knows where he is
- Ø Jamsheed Minwalla will still be in Scott House
- Ø Finally, Rick Godin's arms will be declared National Historical Monuments by Peerless Productions.

The final section of this speech is my annual, unsolicited, long ignored advice to the Leaving Class. This came to me on the Victoria Day weekend, when I was cycling along a country road in Muskoka. I saw one of those deer crossing signs – yellow, diamond picture of deer leaping. I remember my son, when he was a little boy, used to think that deer would only cross the road at that sign. I sort of aided and abetted that idea. One day he persuaded me to pull over about 100 metres in front of one of these signs because he desperately wanted to see a deer. It was dusk – a still night. So Dad went along with this, and the two of us sat there in the car, quietly, stealthily, waiting, waiting, waiting. I'd like to say a deer came along, but it didn't. After about twenty minutes we were both sick of sitting there and we left. Now, you are probably wondering what moral can be drawn from this. My son really wanted to see a deer. Judging by the sign, he was in the vicinity of deer, the conditions were right for him to see a deer. But, he just sat there and guess what, no deer.

I know you all want to be successful and happy. You've had the benefit of tremendous support from your parents, and a TCS education. You're in the vicinity of success, the conditions are right for you to succeed, but you can't just sit there. You've got to take this wonderful, privileged start you've been given and make your own success. You've got to get up early. You've got to find out what deer prints look like, figure out how and why deer move, where they nest, where they feed – get out of the car and find one!

The Class of 2003, remember the deer sign; remember that your future is in your own hands. Plan and set daily goals, get up early, persevere … essentially, go out and make it happen!

We talk a lot about choice making at TCS – "think about it and choose well". Life in its simplest form is a series of choices. We desperately want you to make a lot of right ones. There is one right choice you can all make. It is an immutable human freedom to choose your response, reaction, and attitude in any set of circumstances. Although there will be bumps in the road and moments of sadness in your life, if you choose to be charitable, productive, optimistic, sanguine, happy, no one can stop you.

And one more thing – don't waste your time on jealousy. Sometimes you're ahead, sometimes you are behind. The race is long and, in the end, it is only with yourself!

So today is your last day as a Trinity student. Savour it. Try to close down properly this chapter in your life. I am going to reprise essentially what Heather said.

I would suggest thanking your parents for giving you this opportunity. I really hope you are parents one day, if only to truly understand the love of your parents. You must thank your teachers. They are like brick masons. They never see the completed house with windows and roofs, etc. but man, they play a role in the overall construction. So please thank your teachers, not only for their instruction but for wanting you to succeed. And of course, you all want to thank your friends for sharing this journey with you and making it bearable and often fun.

You're going to forget this speech, you are going to forget who wins these awards but look around you, you will never forget the people with whom you share this moment. And TCS will never forget you.

You know the original mandate and mission of TCS was lost in the first fire, but we know what W. A. Johnson started here because we live it, we breathe it, we get tired of it, we sometimes hate it, we often love it, we take it for granted, and we appreciate it more when we are away from it.

Class of 2003, you are moving away from it – from here. It has been a delight getting to know you. I will miss you all. Nothing will dampen my affection for this class, including the sinners, skateboarders, sharpies, smitties, and the sketchies among you.

I remember talking to you as nervous new students in the Chapel and saying, "We are all just passing through here. This School has been loaned to us for a few years and it is our responsibility to leave it in better shape." Well I think you have and I thank you for that.

I look forward to welcoming you as Old Boys and Old Girls of TCS. I am very glad our paths crossed in Port Hope.

I wish you a future filled with contentment and prosperity, and lives filled with wonder, laughter and charity.

Cheers to you all.

I can't even begin to sum up the lessons I've learned or the experiences I've had during my two years at TCS and my FIVE years of highschool. All the sports teams, house events (BURNS ROCKS!), late night study sessions, parties, procrastination in and out of class, roommates, fights, and FRIENDS, will never be forgotten. To my parents you'll never know how much your encouragement and support mean to me. Willzie, Feds, Broughy it wouldn't have been the same without you. Teachers and Coaches, thanks for pushing me to reach my potential. To all my friends, I could have used these 200 words to name you but you know who you are! The memories...my trip to the Bahamas, the much anticipated Leafs game, trips home, the many nicknames, and New Year's. Liz you've always been there for me, Alana favourite roomy, you've been there for two full years and it's been fun! Fongers I'll never forget you! Brady, good luck taking over the world! Tottie, watch out for bumps in the road! Kate, you are so strong. To those of you returning next year, (massive Dobs! Kristin, Sam, Hollie) keep in touch! Look past the rain to find the rainbow! I'm moving forward but will always remember my years at TCS.

James Bainton

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times." Dickens
This quote describes it all...my time at TCS. Although I have been here six long years, it seems like a couple. I guess I could say I beat the odds, considering only 8 of the 14 people I began with in Grade 7 will be graduating alongside me. I would like to thank my parents for sending me through a school that costs as much as a decent car every year (You could have had 6 cars!). Thanks Tim...You're my brother and although we may not always agree, we get through it. Thanks Phil for Everything (Rack Weekend - same time, same place next year?), you taught me more than class ever did! Mr. Large, I cannot thank you enough for being such a great Housemaster. Thanks to some of my teachers ... Mr. Robert, I actually wanted to go to your class, most of the time. (Just remember the day that you were praised in the Globe and Mail). Lastly, thanks to all the HO's, and everyone who I have spent time with. Good luck to everyone in university and beyond ... and without a doubt, I will be back!

Five school years and three summers. Wow. I have spent WAY too much time at this school. Even so, I think I'll miss this place. Football, Olser Hall perogies, McCord's Latin class, throwing snowballs out the window in chem class..... lots of memories. Goodbye all, good fortune, and have hope; there is life after TCS.

Though I've only been here for one year, I feel privileged to have been part of this community and to have benefited from the academic opportunities that the school offers. I have had the chance to work with talented classmates and caring, dedicated teachers. Beyond having increased my average by almost 8% from what it was last year, the School has afforded me much valuable perspective on the mentalities and ideologies that permeate our society. For this I thank the School and those who constitute it.

It's been a quick three years. Going from being pitted against huge OACs in Bethune fight clubs, to duct taping kids to furniture. First, thanks to my parents for sending me here, and to Jennifer for telling me to be in Bethune, the place I've been proud to call home. Bryan, you showed me the ropes of TCS, and never let me down. TJ, your trini charm will never escape me. Living with you was like living in a cartoon. Caleb, you were a great roommate too, even though you are a communist. Long live the Busting B's. Jessica, you're awesome! You made it all worthwhile. Thanks to the teachers, especially McCord, who straightened me out and changed me from a full out skid, to a general slacker. Thanks to Mr. Parker for all his musical advice. I'm ready to leave Trinity, but at the same time I'll miss the friends and experiences that I had here. So later, dudes, and when you see me ripping a mean guitar solo on MTV, you can say you knew me. These things tend to impress people. Rock on.

Wow , six years of TCS can sure change a person. Starting here was rough but well worth the effort. My last year was by far the best (especially from 11/26/02 on). My friends have become a part of me like never before. They have helped me through a tough year, and I "thank" you all (you know who you are). Zans, your support has meant the world to me in my last year - going second must have been much easier. Brett, so you're stuck here an extra year...make it a good one. As this part of my life is completed, I do not feel any sadness. It can only get better, not worse. Alex, if you were only a person, you would find this sentence of my quote confusing. This last year was full of change for me, change for the better, I'd hope. Mom and Dad, all I can say is you were right all along and thank you. Kyle it has only been four years, but I considered them fun. Sara there's only three words I have for you (the first set of three words mind you). Don't leave me behind, everyone; we are forever friends - keep in touch.

Gord Dale

I've been here at TCS for two years now. What a long two years it's been. I have many memories of TCS. Kienan: I'll miss going to chem and eating lifesavers all class. I don't think I'll ever be able to go to a chemistry class without thinking back on all the good times we had bugging Mrs. Robert. Bradshaw and Kienan: I'll miss all the great talks we've had, in the car driving you home Kienan, the go train Bradshaw, and all the talks in the lounge and office. I will miss TCS and all the people I have met here. I have learnt so much here both in and out of class. Out of class, I've learnt how to deal with people and how to deal with people who are out to get you. You all know who you are, and to all of those people, thank you for making me a better person. Over the past few years I've learned that, first off, what doesn't kill you makes you stronger and you have to really pick the battles you fight because there are too many battles in life to fight them all.

Alex Willison

"Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead!"
(Admiral Farragut, Mobile Bay 1864)
This quote sums up what I have learned at Trinity. I could of course recap what I enjoyed and what I will miss. I won't. Instead, this message goes out to those I leave behind: take every opportunity possible, both at school and in life. When it looks like you have run out of options, find more. I cannot stress how rewarding this is. If everything looks bleak, look harder; your friends and family are there to help you. When I came to TCS, I looked something like the picture above, and being a year younger I looked up to most with that same childish seriousness. Now, I hope that I have those who look up to me in the same way. Orchard House: you guys were awesome. To those girls in Wright, Burns and Scott who would talk to me: keep in touch, I love you all. To the individuals I would run into frequently: it wasn't often enough. Family, Teachers, Others of inspiration and guidance: I look at what I have become, and I have no words to express my gratitude.

Antonio Caballero Prado

TCS, what an awesome place! It's like a small world in which we have lots of experiences to learn from, lots of good friends to meet, lots of problems to solve, and lots of good times to have. These two years have been amazing ones in which I've learned a lot and met awesome people. I first have to thank my parents for this experience: creanme, valió mucho la pena, muchísimas gracias y los quiero mucho! Next I would like to thank my advisor, Mr. Robert, for all his support and patience. Also all of my teachers from this and last year (TL, GN, LT, PD, BG, BB, CR, SM, ST, CM): you have been a guide for me and I've really learned lots from you. Mr. Keiser, Mr. Pinches and Mr. Black, thanks for everything. FD, thanks for everything. Tenoch, Stefan, Joao and Currie thanx for being the best of friends. Yusif, Chris y James, se les extraño pero ya los veré en MEX. Arth take it easy BE! Bethune guys, take care! Every moment at TCS has been special and I've got to thank everyone for it. Come to MEXICO to visit... Seññoreeeesss, I'm going home! Yeeeeeeesssss!

After spending four years at Trinity I look back thinking of two important things....the great times I had....and what I'm taking with me as I leave. My four years at the school were filled with both great and terrible times. On the lower note, my ninth grade roommate gave me a new understanding of hell; I went through some of the most stressful moments of my life, and I had the occasional overwhelming drama with one or two girls. But on the other hand I also look back at enjoying Monte Cristos with Bakker, countless nights of Wook and Petryshen's crazy antics, jokes with Proud, Fei, and Tapio, and cool starry nights with Rebecca. Now I find that these four years are up and I am walking away with some friends I'll never forget. You all know who you are! Sorry I can't say something about all of you... Also I think I've learned a lot from the troubles the school put me through. I'm ready to deal with anything. So goodbye to all ... and to everyone who's been close to me in these four years, let's keep in touch.

Vanessa Chase

As I walk through the jungle I see new things around me. I stumble, I pick myself up and wipe the dirt off. I want to cry out, but I look to the sun, realize that I must be strong and continue walking. After many hours, my instincts lead me to a clearing. Family, friends, and mentors greet me there. I embrace them with open arms. I have made it through the jungle ... Tomorrow will be a promising day!

With the help of family, friends and mentors TCS has allowed me to open up and be myself. I will never forget the many opportunities I was offered during my four years at TCS. I have learned new things, and I know life will challenge me, but I am prepared to take on anything. Thanks for the freedom to be me.

In my four years in Trinity, I have successfully become the weirdest kid in the school. Many have challenged this position from the likes of Kenny Lee to Sagan Bolliger but my dedication, perseverance and my gigantic head have prevailed. The Korean has landed! To count the ways I am "different" is impossible. It is like counting contours on Currie's "abs". That's right - it's infinite. Take for example my play for the Tales from the Script which was cross between Bergman and Haneke's theatre (does anyone know what that is?). Now as I leave this blessed alcove of education and suspensions, I can see the light that was behind me. Many thanks to whoever got me here, namely Heather Wright, and I wish you all a good night. Silencio.

Katie Cummer

At first I intended to say a little something to everyone individually, but there's nowhere near enough room to say everything that I want to. So instead: to everyone here at TCS, a big thank you for being the amazing people you are, who have touched my life in ways I never thought possible. (You all know who you are.) I've laughed a lot and cried a little, and basically had the best two years of my life so far. In only two years so much has happened, so many things to remember and miss: all the late night talks and partying it up, freezies by the bag, scrabble in the park, bench at 10, Willies, Beckers, the one chapel hymn I sing, algeo walkabouts, boring Saturday nights made interesting, wandering the fields, literati, mission impossible, Montreal, surgery, dancing in the streets, popping a squat, the plays, house meeting bets, and all the other countless good times. I couldn't have asked for anything more. I'm gonna miss you all like crazy. Mom and Dad, thank you, you've given me everything I could ever want. Love you both. And of course Jenn, Russ and Anna too. Thanks for always being there.

Karla Day

"Success is not the key to happiness. Happiness is the key to success. If you love what you are doing, you will be successful." That's my plan. I'm studying drama. I know it's not as great as a doctor, lawyer or engineer, which seems to be the only jobs socially acceptable here, but at least I'll be happy. To my "townie" friends (as the snobby rich kids call you from my school) our friendship will last longer than anyone's I have made here except for Holly's. Holly the parties were great, especially Nick's. I will never forget the times at Willy's every Sunday with you and Abby. Erin, you are my best friend. Although we'll never rob a house together, we can still steal signs and pylons. I'm sure that boy will get over you as you have done - long ago. I want to thank my grandparents for giving up so much for me; I hope to repay you one day. I'll always remember the "cheese BALL." All of the people in my life have shaped me for who I am. And I want to thank them. Good luck with your endeavours. If you go to the moon, write my name.

Robert Deane

Thanks, mom and dad. Met a bunch of people and had a good time. Hope to see some of you in the future. Good luck to the grad class of next year. Joseph you are a damn liar. See ya all later.

There's always an easy solution to every human problem ~ neat, plausible and wrong" ~H.L. Mencken

It seems that throughout my career at TCS I subjected myself to the above belief in each of my struggles. If only I could have seen the simple solutions to my difficult problems, right Vaness? To a few of my inspirations: my fearless physics duo, the DEW drops on my flowers, et le prof dont j'avais toujours besoin. Last but certainly not least, to my Neanderthal - my sounding board - you coaxed me down from my tree, now bark up another one! Sibs, innumerable thanks for helping me in every facet of my life. Jennifer, Vanessa, and Caroline, thanks for being my hang-arounds, and for putting up with my fits. Mumsy, without you, the light in my eyes would never have returned. Fox, I know you are out conquering the world, but return to the burrow some day.

If I have learned anything at TCS, Einstein said it best: 'The important thing is not to stop questioning'. I hope to be the same Curious George for the rest of my life.

It is possible to spread this illness of peace, to spread this illness of love … let's just make it a little more infectious. Respect to my professors, friends, and parents for the support throughout these years; I wouldn't have been able to do it without you. Thanks to my fellow Bulldogs for helping me confuse Bethune with "home." Despite a few technical mishaps my first year, I had a great time rowing with Blade 2 and Raptor. My advice to senior men – remember to wax the wood grain on every boat. TP, sorry about the early mornings, but you "sleep when you die!" Spring Break 2003 was off the hook, especially putting around in "Yellow Peril" until she flipped. Your generosity will not be overlooked – I'll buy you a meal from Mr. Pong's. I still haven't figured out where downtown Toronto is, but DirtyP, Steers, and TP helped me wash away the boredom. Steers, we got in for FREE! Borlox, Burp and Barla you introduced me to many great things, none of which I will ever forget. P.S. "Riggers," call me when you've been institutionalized; remember there's always hope, even in New Rock. Vector: not an addiction, it's a lifestyle.

First and foremost I want to thank my family – Mom and Dad, thank you for opening so many doors and giving me opportunities I never knew existed. Jonathan and Jordan, I could not ask for better brothers or friends. Thank you all for your love and support. Sarah - Thanks for creating so many memories and a life that allows me to look back and smile. To all the Newfs – you're always with me. It was you who got me through this. After only two years at Trinity there are endless amounts of thanks that I wish I could express. Coaches Nichols, Christ and Geale – you taught me so much about having passion for the game but, more importantly, you taught me about having passion for life. Elsley, Wright, Hamilton, Brough, Feddery, Willzie and Kedwell - your guidance, support and constant friendship will not be forgotten. Thank you. Basketball girls – thanks, you mean the world to me. Kates – thanks for being you. Your positive presence made school more bearable. Fong – thanks for two amazing springs. Em – your friendship means so much to me. Brin – thanks. I couldn't have done it without you. Steph – thanks for all the laughs. Sagey – thanks for always being there for me. One year to go – make me proud. To everyone who's reading this, thank you. It's been great!

Johnny Monteiro Gomes

It was just one year, and for sure I'll remember TCS for the rest of my life. Not for all the work (no words describe how much I hate ISPs) or bad moments but for all the friends that I made here. I really don't need to say names; you probably know if you are on my list! Mom and Dad, I love you guys, thanks a lot for this huge opportunity. Thanks to all my teachers and friends who made this a new and amazing experience. Puto, you are my Papa (tis tiss, din din, bamo che, nham nham, humm, culero and…CONNECTION!!!). Kirkmoe, siii (little ones and squirrels). FD, thanks for everything. Montreal 2x (Milk please! 10 points Puto!), Collingwood (Grey Goose and Jacuzzi), Buckhorn (adventures on the lake), Toronto (Steers) or even PH and Cobourg, what a great place to be with my friends!!! Thanks Mr. Allen, Mr. Ingram, Mr. Moustache and all the Bickle boys!!! Mr. Parker thanks for introducing jazz into my life (Jazz band and Veruska rocks)!!! Fellows from Data M, I'll miss you guys!!! Oh my God, It's Crazy Legs!!!
Love

The one thing that Trinity has taught me is that in life you cannot take people by face value; rather you must get to know them before you can dislike them. Now it is too late; I am in too deep, and left pretending. Pretending to be interested, smiling and nodding politely at your 'friends' arbitrary comments all the while thinking to yourself "Wow, you're an idiot". But every once in a while you find a few true friends that stick by you and you know that you will never forget these people. Passion fruit, you are one of the truest of friends and I can only hope that our friendship will not end with our Trinity careers. And Kedwell, you are like a sister (except you don't slap me over the head) and I know that we will be friends forever, (that last line was somewhat of a cliché, but true nonetheless). I guess I should thank my dad for giving me this chance to enrich my life by attending such a prestigious boarding school where I have learnt so many valuable and life long lessons, Thanks Dad! Finally, a quotation from a least favourite person, "You're a waste of skin!"

Steph Hambrock

I'm quite confident that the past four years at Trinity will prove to be the most valuable of my life. I have flourished as a person and a student, and for this I have many people to thank. Parents. I know sending me here wasn't easy (on you or your wallet) but I appreciate it; we made the right choice. To my teachers, many of you believed in me when I didn't believe in my self. Mrs.C- you've been a great advisor and friend. Your dinners, move parties, and chats were greatly appreciated. Traugott- you've been there through good times and bad - thanks. Mer- nobody will ever understand our relationship. I'm proud of you. Good luck - don't do anything I wouldn't do. Alex - I hope you go to TCS; you will excel. You're the smartest 13 year old I have ever met. I am proud of you. Oh, and I stole your blue sweatpants. Friends - words cannot express how much our friendship means to me. I wouldn't have made it here with out you. Keep in touch. In fact, e-mail me right now! To my fellow Graduates, Good Luck. If you're ever in Wolfville, give me a shout. Thanks TCS.

Greg Harman

Four years of TCS... I can honestly say each year was better than the last ... I hated my first two years and wouldn't trade my last two for anything in the world. Thank you, Mom and Dad, for opening this door for me and for your unconditional love and support. Rob you've been a great brother. To my Grandparents, thanks for the love and encouragement. Ted Gorsline and Erkin Ozberk, you have been my two best friends I don't think I'll ever forget you or the great times we've shared. Jeff, Adam, Brendan, Charters, Gord, Graham, Kurtis, Caroline, Vanessa, Heather, Serra... and the rest, thanks for the great times. I can't think of one of you who haven't influenced my life in a positive way. A word of advice to future generations ... teachers who talk down to you are imbeciles and you should remind them of this. Thanks to Mr. Large; you've always treated me as an equal, and I have more respect for you than anyone else in the teaching profession.

The strong character turns a crisis into an opportunity and grows from it.
In my two years at TCS, I have learned many things. Here are some:
Be optimistic. Positive thinking can turn a rainy day into sunshine.
Appreciate what you have: you have eyes to read these very words you have a brain to comprehend them, you have the amazing opportunity to receive a world class education, and most of your life is still ahead of you!
When you get up in the morning think of one thing to be grateful for. It will change your day.
There are many people who love you. Recall that when you feel lonely.
Respect your teachers. They could make twice as much money elsewhere. Instead they decided to pass on their knowledge to people like you.
Do one thing at a time. Focus on what you are doing right now and dedicate all your attention to it.
Don't be afraid of Mr. Elsley. He is in fact a very smart man.
Life can be everything you want it to be. Believe in yourself and keep your dreams alive. Then you will succeed.

Arthur Herbert

First of all, I'd like to thank my parents for supporting me; without you, I wouldn't be graduating. Mr. Taylor, thanks for the advice and support over the years, showing me the right way when it was unclear and being as good a mentor as one could ask for.
At this time I realize that TCS doesn't just teach you academics but teaches you life and how to get through it. You learn how to live with a roommate even with your differences, in a close community with your friends and enemies, and still enjoy it.
TCS also opened a lot of opportunities in sports from rowing to rugby. It has all been fun - from the early mornings on the lake to the cold matches in the snow.
I try to live my life without any regrets and can say without a doubt that I have absolutely no regret in having come to TCS.

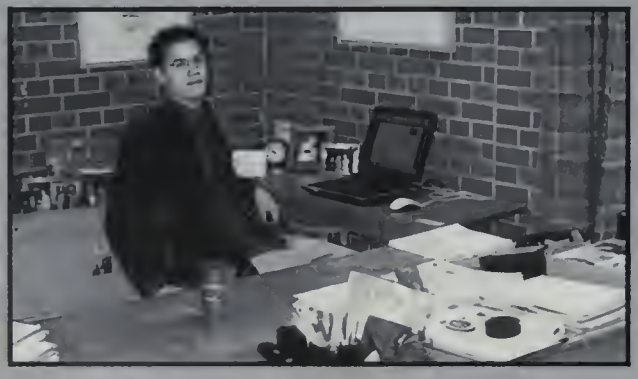

Ken Hinchliffe

It's the end of the apparently second best years of your life. Four years have passed and what should be said about them? The things that will come back to haunt me are... Latin Class for sure is up there, either because I have no other highlights or it's because spending three years and four separate classes with McCord has scarred me in some currently unknown way. Quick loss of Latin students from year to year sticks in my mind as well. I'm sure I'll never look at cold the same way again thanks to spending countless hours in the hockey arena running that stupid scoreboard. I'm surprised with how some school work comes back to help you in later years... well most of the time at least, when it comes back that is. :-)
Generally it was a good time with a lot of things that I will try so hard to forget later in life, only to be emotionally damaged by them again.
Time to end this quote in the only way I can think of, with one of my overused Latin jokes:
Romani eunt domis...or in the correct Latin form, Romani domum ite.
L.O.D.

The two years at TCS have gone quickly, but I hold many memories from them. Big up to all the Bickle youths. Riek and Kali, keep representing the islands, tight. Brennan and Duncan, respect, men had bare kix over the last year. Deaner, keep close to that Extra Old. Big up Trelawny, Antigua, Trinidad and Barbados youts. Lecta, cheek you in BIM star. Lastly, tek it easy Dustin, I not going be there to save you from expulsion next year. To all the cricketers, and Mr. Large, this last season has been the best, good luck in the future Amar. Georgie, tek over the scene next year. Mr. Ingram, tek it light. Also, Mr. McCord, you have been my father away from home; thanks for everything you have done for me in the past two years; you have been an integral part of my life at TCS. Robyn, thanks for the last few months; it has been wonderful. Finally, thanks to my parents for giving me this opportunity. It was great.
Righteous, peace, love and unity. Brisk - out.

Adam John

TCS has been my home for the past three years, and now, I guess, the time has come to move on. I suppose I'll start off, like everyone else, with my thank yous and farewells. I would like to thank my parents for giving me the opportunity and privilege of attending TCS. This never would have been possible without you. I would also like to thank my advisor, my Housemasters and all of Bickle house, who were always there for me. As my career at TCS comes to a close, I'd like to reflect on the past few years and thank my friends who helped me survive my time here. To my four roommates, it was fun and good times were had. To all my friends of class of '03, you know who you are, give yourselves a pat on the back. To MT, CK, KL, CC, and the Y2 duo, you guys will have your time. To Kenzo, Billes, CJ and Corny, too bad you guys aren't here to see this day, but thanks anyway. Also, I'd like to leave you with some advice: read Joseph Saunders' grad quote.

Reed Jones

Being here for four years is definitely not the ideal thing to do but, that was my mistake. I really can't say that it has been a nightmare because this school has provided some excellent experiences: the daily meetings in the valley, the crazy life of boarding kids and of course the entertainment of fellow islanders in some of the most grueling card games ever. I'm leaving with a smile because it's always good to have a bit of fun and meet some of the psychos that go here, whilst simultaneously trying to hand in that major assignment due the following morning. Thanks to those who made sure I lasted through this school to see the light of day again. Especially to all the Bajans; Herb, Hutch, Rob, Dustin & Jenna. Then there's the Trini's; Chin, Poon-Tip, Christie. And all the others; Roh, Ozz, Ben, Jam, McCulloch, Snake and Faye. Hopefully we'll keep in touch, especially when I'm in dire need of money! Latas and thanks, Mom and Dad, you're the best for this is an opportunity I'm glad I took.

Christian Knowles

Well four years are finally over. It feels like it went by so fast, and now that I think of all of the things I've done, I'm glad to say that I am really going to miss it. Trying to think of what I'm going to write is hard, I thought I was just going to say "peace out TCS" but that really cannot describe my experience here, all the people I've met, all of you who made my life at TCS memorable, I just want to thank all of you. To my parents who spent a load of money on my education here, I just want to say thank you for giving me this wonderful chance. Reed, all those movies and talks on "what ifs"; Bobert, you need to find yourself a gal; Chin, you still argue like a woman, but much love just the same. To my teachers all of them who gave me a chance, and took a chance in doing so, and Mr. Allen who always looked out for an injury prone islander, I just want to say that the next time I see you I will knowles something. Anyway, peace out.

First, I would like to thank my parents for giving me the opportunity to attend this school. These two years at TCS have been very interesting. I am happy that they are finally over but I am grateful for spending them here. I would like to thank all my teachers especially my advisor Mr. Taylor. Special thanks to Mr. Langford for the two years you have coached me in football and baseball. Campbell thanks for watching out for me and being there for me whenever I would get myself into trouble. To all my boyz I am leaving behind, I hope that you make it out. Marco and Robbie represent our country to the fullest next year. Matt, Petty, Georgie, Jamie, Conyers - hold it down for me and do what you do best. Carly, thank you for braiding my hair these past two years, I really appreciated it. Smokey and LaFleur, thanks for giving me many jokes to laugh at. Good luck to everyone next year.

"That which doesn't kill me can only make me stronger."

Lalitha Kondapaneni

Four years have gone by so fast. I don't even know where to start. So I'll start by saying thanks! Thanks to everyone for all of the great memories! To all of my Rigby girls, I HAVE LEARNED! Vivacious Vanessa, keep on singing. Don't ever give up that beautiful voice. Jungle-Fire Jessica, I swear it sounds like the ozone layer. To Jumping Castle Jess, Kedwell, and Biblical Bianca, I wish you all good luck in your future endeavours. Justin and Warren, I'll never forget those bus rides. If I didn't say it before, I had a great time! Rachel, ROOTS! Remember, wearing sunglasses is not bad etiquette! To all of the other Wright House grads, I'll never forget you. Good luck to all of you next year! Thanks to all of my teachers, especially my adviser, Mr. Parker. Thanks for watching over me the past four years and don't let winds get too crazy! Finally, here's some advice for the future grads. If you look back on your years at TCS and at one point not laugh, smile or shed a tear, consider your years wasted. Trinity has been a great experience for me and I will truly miss it!

Love always, Lalitha

Vanessa LaPointe

To my family, thank you for allowing me to come to TCS. I would have been in a very different situation otherwise. I cannot thank you enough for the sacrifices you have made and are about to make to grant me a better education.

To those who loved me, thank you. Through your support, I always felt that anything was possible. You saw me at my worst, and helped me get back to my best. Names are not needed — you know who you are. In fact, to those who affected me positively or negatively, thank you. You all played a part in making me what I am today.

To the Ketchum girls who made me laugh (and seek refuge in my room), thank you for your everlasting good spirit. Never stop loving life.

To the best Housemasters I could have dreamed of, thank you for always being there for me.

To my teachers who thought they saw potential, thank you for pushing me to go beyond expectations.

MR ELSLEY IS THE BEST. You helped me drop the tool of Satan: Math. Bethune House, you were my family for the past three years, thank you all. Our house is the best, without a doubt. Abby, LaPointe, thanks for being there always. Dana, Cummer, you helped me through some tough times. Thank you both. Mother, Father, just you wait, you'll be proud. Bond, Bryan, dynamic duo, adios for now. I'm sure we'll meet up again one day. Kate Simpson, you saved my life. I love you. Let me sum up my three years: Three Bethune streaks, all-successful no matter what anyone says. The Sunny-side tape situation, three plays, two musicals. Middleside cricket preacher. One term of Track. A faked knee injury to run from Harriers. Many new friends. Great food at all times ... Trina Bear several times. Middleside cricket sending UCC under-14 team home crying. Chapel Choir for life. Basses represent. Capella. This quote wasn't fair to people. I only had 200 words

Everyone thanks. I'll miss you all.

Party on Matt. Party on Bryan.

Stay Well

Many things will always change, but the people you meet always stay the same. They always stay exactly the way you remember them. Whether it was good or bad, you never forget. My life was TCS. My friends were the support. I made it through because of you guys (you know who you are). The new friends and old, my sports buddies and the people you just smile and say hello to in the halls. You guys made me laugh at everything and made me be so bold. The six years I spent crawled up quickly when I was not looking. I love my life because of the risks I took. Life can't be interesting if you're always prepared. By showing the guys I could do the same things too, not worrying too much of what people thought, and only being special to one person, and everyone else still a mystery. My life is a great stage of fun and exciting things; I just hope to share it with as many others. TCS was just a place to some, and help to others, but for me it was my stage to play out to the world and say, "This is me!"

Less hasty are we than the wind, yet still we must go. We leave behind a haze of hard work, good friends, and times spent just having fun. Yet this is neither the end nor even the beginning of the end; this is merely the end of the beginning. I thank my parents for their constant support and guidance; I never would have made it this far without them. I also thank the many teachers who mentored me over the past two years, particularly Mr. Allen, Mr. Hargraft, Mr. McCord, Mr. Hodges, and Ms. Barton. And, of course, a special thanks to my friends. To those that understand the significance of Triple C, money, crunch-n-munch, Fellowship, labels, Zack and my sister, McCarthyism All Over Again, and campaign promises, please know that I'll never forget you—feel free to stop by 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue around 2036. To my fellow graduates, always bear in mind the words of Teddy Roosevelt "Tis far better to dare mighty things even though checkered by failure than to rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much, because they live in a grey twilight that knows not victory nor defeat." Farewell and stand fast. BTM

It's over and I've learned something. I've learned that I'm lucky. In fact, I'm probably one of the luckiest kids on Earth. I have a loving family. I live in a great country, and God smiles at me everyday. I haven't done much to deserve my life, but at the very least, I want to thank some of the people who made it possible. I actually want to thank TCS, first and foremost, and many of the helpful people who work there (Mr. Hall, Mrs. Paziuk & others.) I've had a great time. I also want to thank my parents, especially my mother, who's always been looking out for me. I'll never forget that, and when I'm rich, I'm giving you all my money. To my friends (in no particular order): GB, RS, ZO, CB, D(You're Rude)H, RJ, J-WC, MP, AB, BC, GU, BJ, AS, FD: We'll be in touch. And finally to Stevie Wonder; you are a great singer. I enjoyed our duets.

Four years of TCS and it's over ... wow ... time flies by. So many things have happened over the years. TCS has changed me, hopefully for the better. I'd say the best thing that happened was Jamaica. Thanks to Ms. Barton for letting me go on it. It changed my life. TCS - thanks for everything. As for jazz I'm proud to say that in the three years of being in it ... zero hours of practiscing on my part outside of rehearsals. It was tough, but I made it through. Anyways, TSSJ - keep up the good work next year. To all my friends - thanks for helping me through all the stuff that I hated. My leaving words to anyone who cares: one love. If you understand that and shape your life around it, there's nothing else you'll need. That's about it ... maybe I'll see some of you another time.

Read this entire quote. Happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again. The past 4 years have come and gone in a flash. I've met some amazing people here at TCS and wish you all the best. Stacey, you're an awesome girl and a great friend. I love you tons - don't ever lose touch. BSharp, regret not knowing you earlier, you're a smart kid with a future as big as you want to make it. Good luck in Kincardine, lol! Zac, always the left hand man. Mrs. T. I want a rematch! D, lets go to the Galaxy!! lol, oh and you owe me a massage. Mom and Dad, I love you guys and thank you very much for everything that you've done. Remember, you've taught me more than TCS ever could. Kris, thanks for challenging me, inspiring me and broadening my views to a larger horizon. I'm really happy that I've had the privilege of knowing you. Liam, you thinkin' what I'm thinkin'? Lets do it... great minds think alike. And the hamster isn't dead, just passed out.

All good things must come to an end, and it is on this note that I find myself writing the last piece I have officially 'due' at Trinity. Of course, in keeping with a time honoured tradition, it is over a month late. It's been a lot of fun at Trinity, this last year being by far the best. This is due to a lot of things, namely my friends. The boat has rocked a couple of times this year and lurched me into the grappling hands of challenges I never thought I'd see again and ones I will forever cherish. To my friends, you know who you are. I never could have done it without you and it means a lot to me that I didn't have to. You have laughed with (and at) me and made my year. I will miss you all so much.
To the cast and crew of Dream: you know how I feel about you all. Thanks for that.

Live all you can; it's a mistake not to. It doesn't so much matter what you do in particular, so long as you have your life. If you haven't had that, what have you had? -Henry James
It is hard to believe that I am reflecting back on four years at TCS. It seems like only yesterday that I was being shown where my classes and Osler Hall were, and wondering if I would ever be able to find them again. To all of the teachers I've had through the years, thank you. You've provided me with immeasurable knowledge and insight. To my friends, you're all amazing - TCS wouldn't have been the same without you. To the five other Rigby Grads, it has been so much fun and I won't forget the many laughs and jokes we've shared. Mom, Dad, and Kate, thanks for everything. I couldn't have done it without you.

"And now, the end is near, and so we face the final curtain .We lived a High school life that's full we traveled each and every highway. And more much more than this, we did it our way…We loved; we laughed and cried, we had our fill, our share of losing. But now, as tears subside, I find it all so amusing .To think we did all that, and may I say, not in a shy way - Oh no. Oh no, not us. We did it our way." - MyWay, Frank Sinatra.

I want to thank everyone who made this year unforgettable. To my parents for granting me this experience that changed my life forever. Trinity will always be my second home. I want to thank Trinity for the laughs, knowledge, teachers, housemasters, volleyball, arts, spares, red gatings, weekend confinements, half days, house sports, coffee houses, mud pits, dinners, dances etc… for being a place where you can not only find friends but yourself. Thanks to Ketchum, and all the people inside it that made it so special. To my fourth floor girls, I love you all very much and my life will never be the same without you.

As time inevitably continues on, we grow. With growth comes change. In that we discover new excitements, fears, boundaries, pathways and we barely blink before out walk along the beach transforms into a sail across the ocean. In different directions, the wind carries us on, with merely the control of our trembling fingers tugging the rope of the sail. Swimming through life we're searching for a rock to stand on. Afraid of the future, we dive into today and only look back singing the echoes. Sing your echoes and let them bounce off the walls of mistake, regret, love and happiness. Sailing which every way you're taken, always be thinking of the sea.

Rob Patterson

I'm always bad at this sort of thing, but here it goes. To my friends, I'm not going to mention you all by name, but you know who you are and it's been great; thanks for an incredible two years. Looking back on it: Art Trips to England and Italy; Timmies; The Fellowship; Nordic; Stage Crew; growing a beard; the dark room; Bethune House; and hours wasted in Osler Hall (I'm not going to elaborate, you'll understand if you're meant to). To my teachers, thank you all so much for putting up with me, I appreciate it. And to Mom and Dad, thank you so much for this opportunity. I've had a great time, and I don't want to grow up. It's hard condensing 2 years into 200 words. So I'm not going to try, and I'll leave off there; remembering in the words of that great Hungarian poet, Shakespeare ("Shak-ES-pear-E") "Men of few words are the best men" (Sorry, that was an obligatory reference).

Anne Frank once said: "How wonderful it is that nobody need wait a single moment before starting to improve the world." TCS has taught me that I can accomplish almost anything and this belief will support me as I venture out in daily life.

I never thought that this day would come! These past four years have sped by and I have enjoyed my time here immensely! The TCS community of faculty and friends has afforded me wonderful opportunities and experiences during my tenure here. From them, I received encouragement, direction and understanding. In gratitude, I need to acknowledge the three people without whom I could not have done this. My parents, to whom I am grateful for giving me the chance to attend TCS and who sustained me with their love and support. The ultimate "thank-you" needs to go to my advisor, Mr. Parker, to whom I will ever be indebted for always pushing me to better myself and for always being there for me ... Mr. Parker you're the greatest

Joseph Saunders

I have spent four years here, so kids, listen. Nothing is forgiven, just occasionally forgotten; false conversions work; choose your battles well; if you think it's illegal, it probably is; kick them while they are down; and dreams, doors, hearts and rules are made to be broken. + Art is beautiful, life is not; it's only cheating when you're caught. The path most often traveled tends not to have man eating plants or booby traps, but does have masses of sheeplike sellouts. Maturity is about curbing your enthusiasm and solving problems with physical force. Final Score - a consistent game of 0 (0 is more like nil than love). Ref blew the whistle. Sun screen and bug spray are for posers who don't really like nature or accept its ugly side. Women and children are the first to go.

On religion - if anyone finds God, tell him I'm looking for an explanation to what happened the other night. You might be operating under the incorrect supposition that God loves people.

There is nothing that I could say at this point of my life that would be anything close to revolutionary or even useful to anyone. Find me in ten years when I have changed all that. There are a few things that I will say with no intention of changing anyone's life, just things that I think are important. Be proportionately passionate, not everything needs a parade. Don't consider yourself better or more intelligent than anyone; it is much easier to keep an open mind; you may be surprised what you learn from those you have disregarded.

Take time to listen.

Everything you think does not have to be said aloud; the truly important things will go unnoticed.

Don't strive to be happy; just be happy.

If you can be happy in hell, it will be your heaven.

I have waited a grueling three years to once again posses the rights and freedoms I once had. There are many who made sure I stayed at TCS and I want to thank, yet there are those who made the stay at this prison enjoyable who I need to thank. First off I want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Maynard, for putting up with all our problems, and all those meals, which Osler can't compete with. I also want to thank Team Maynard (you know who you are), you guys kept me sane. I especially have to mention our fallen comrades the classy Smith (Old Man Smithers: "A thing about class") and Bethel (J-Begga, Big 'J'), all of us, and Chuck will miss you guys. There are more people that need to be mentioned but thinking of garbage to write is hard. So if you weren't mentioned it doesn't mean you were forgotten. I will remember all of those who were close to me.

After five years of watching the TCS community change (and grow), I'm continually reminded of the Trinity traits that have long since vanished: Running Quarters, Gr. 9 XXX games, dead fish in the mud pits, chicken in white sauce ... Times do change, but with new change comes new beginnings, and through these new beginnings I met many unforgettable people. First, to the Beast, you may be an enigma wrapped in a puzzle, but I think I understand you. Matt, our first encounter sums it up. Zack, what's in it for meee? Ringleader, DON'T TOUCH ME! (Touch your horse) Casey, Focus and you'll succeed. Capone, Bigside Skate alone? Pat, you sing all the solos next year. Randy, watch your language (in chapel). Words of wisdom: Take advantage of TCS, but don't let it take advantage of you. I thank Mom and Dad for the experience (which we know was worthwhile), Jocelyn for the inspirational words, and Gaelan, for the "welcome homes" on the weekend. Remember that the key to success is to set goals, because "it's not how high you set the bar; it's how often you raise it." Learn at TCS, learn from TCS, and never forget the lessons.

"Worrying Works. I find 90% of the things I worry about never happen." Thanks TCS!! These four years have been so rewarding ... Mom and Dad, you were the leading cause of my uncoolness but I am so grateful for the opportunities you've given me. Brenna - What can I say? You've already filled my shoes! You are my best friend and I am so proud of you ... just don't mumble!! Shannon and Hailey, you make me laugh, stay out of trouble! Ryan, you will be my BFF no matter where we live in this world. And to the whole gang in Wright and Orchard ... you guys are what made high school rock!! Whether it was just hanging out, eating at Denny's, drive-ins, swimming in Justin's bath tub, or another eventful night at Sara's, we have made memories that will last forever. I love you all!! Most important, thanks to my teachers, coaches and all the friendly janitors that say hi in the halls ... you are the people that make TCS #1!! I'm going to miss this place. But if there is one message I can leave behind, "Don't be afraid to give up the good to go for the great."
Love Always,

On my search for funny/inspiring/interesting/memorable things to say (since God knows I could never come up with anything intelligent on my own), I came across something that really epitomized what I've become here at TCS:
"We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give." Norman Macfinan
Now, I don't know who this Norman dude is - but he has a point. School has given me a lot of things, and not just "reputation" type stuff: Friends, Mentors, Inspiration, the Whole bit. This school is pretty special, despite the politics we know exist, and the problems everyone faces now and then. I'd just like to say that my last year here has been trying to give back at least some of what I received (and it's been good). Now that that mushy stuff is over - Here's a Shout and a big I'll MISS YOU to Everyone who Was There along the way! Yes, I'm talking to You!! (Hey, if you bothered to read all of this quotation you probably care a little bit anyway, right?) But keep in Touch! (I mean it!) Audball_85@hotmail.com

When I was in grade 9 I always figured that I would know what to say in my grad quote; well 5 years later I still have to think long and hard. Two years at TCS have felt like five, and I am happy and sad that they are finished. I truly do have a love-hate relationship with this place. Thank you, Mom and Dad, I do not believe that I would have reached this point without your love, support and guidance. You were there through thick and thin, and for that I am truly grateful and appreciative. My teachers, Mr. Reid, thanks for the guidance and advice. "Life is short, so don't work too hard."

To my NT friends, WM, SH, CF, JK, AS, IA, WS, SP. I left NT but never left you guys, thanks for the great times. –Greenroom, Down One – Will, I got a sign – Shaina's pool – cottages.

Girls – let the good times be remembered - the boys of TCS, never could I have made it through without you guys. DM, RG, GU, JK, BP, DS, GB, CF, BC, SH, – Scotland, Sutton, Tremblant, Puerto Vallarta, I'll never forget the ties and friendships that have been made, which time itself cannot break. – till our roads cross in some distant place in some far off time, cheers and good luck!

Cheers to the good times. Joao, obrigado por tudo. TP, I will never forget the nights in TO, I feel like a real CHEATER now. Fei, keep in touch. We will have another lucky NYC night. Bradshaw, you are one of the best people that I have ever met, hope you go to the Olympics, man. McCulloch, you showed me MJ, Wonder, and AWB. I can't thank u enough for your advice. FD, I hope you figure out who you are and then write the book. Thanks for everything. To my other friends, MP, EP, SK, TN, MT, RP, CB, LC, RC, AC, AP, Carfag, and everyone else, thanks for the good 4 years. Allen and Hargraft, thanks for believing in me all this time. To the other teachers TS, DI, TL, IW, CH, LB, Duby, MC, CR, EL, BG, and Mr. Wright, thank you. Mom & Dad, thanks. Now I am leaving on my right foot.

Thanks, mom and dad! I took this opportunity for granted sometimes when I should have been grateful all the time. In the end, I gained a lot of experiences and made a handful of genuine friends. You KNOW I had fun: Look at this picture! Thanks for being there and continuing to love me, Carlene! I love you! I wish the best of luck to all other graduates: Keep your head on your shoulders and don't regret doing anything or not doing anything! To islanders especially: Don't forget your culture (no, I'm not talking about yogurt!) Don't be ashamed of your yourself because there are others just like you who may be inspired by your confidence. See what I learnt at TCS, mom and dad? We're growing up and we can't look back! I won't forget you, fellow grads! You all made my time worthwhile: especially Katie, my islander buddies and my Montreal crew! It's been a fun ride but that was just the baby Scooby Doo ghoster-coaster ... I dare you to ride The Skyrider now! Live like how I eat food! Take it slowly and enjoy every taste, every second of what's under your nose. Best wishes, Christie

After endless snow, the long long winter is finally over and now I can feel the summer. I know it's time to move on past two years of unforgettable memories at TCS. Time flies by when you are having fun, and my two years here were like two heartbeats. I knew that this moment would come sometime though I didn't want it to. I still remember the very first day here with tons of fear but now I'm leaving and I miss it already. Two years that I have spent here at TCS with all of you guys can't be compared to any other time in my life. I experienced so many different things that I never knew, met so many different people from all over the world, and learned a lot of things. I feel very lucky that I had this great opportunity to be part of the TCS family for two years. Many thanks to Mom and Dad for your support and THANK YOU akk, especially my awesome advisor and roomies!

Inspiration. You either have it, or you are still looking. But inspiration cannot be found ... inspiration finds you. You'll know when you have found it; it makes you drive with ambition. But there is nothing you can do to find it faster, so don't waste time worrying about it. Live life as it comes to you and run with your chances, because in hindsight, all you'll remember is the good in things. Sometimes you've just got to breathe deep, and jump. Four years ends at this. No matter where you are, or where you are going, so long as you are with a good bunch of people, it will always be fun. That is what I am going to miss the most, the people. To my friends that have stayed with me through it all, I'll miss the good times. To those that have moved on earlier, I'll see you on the flip side.

If there is one thing that I take away from four years, it is that while learning from the past, and hoping for the future, you can never forget to live the present. To my family, thanks for giving me this opportunity to grow.

The fat lady sang ... we're all going home. Most important, I must thank my family, Mom and Dad, for their unending support, love, and trust. Gilly for your wisdom...and introducing me to the "intellectual" sites of Halifax. Team Maynard, where would I be without you? Bags upon Bags, Bermuda was awesome, friends since the beginning, and here we are at the end. Bumpkin, you are truly a classy gentleman. Janickity, your skateboarding skill will always amaze me. Maynard, you were always there to roll us out of trouble in a blaze of glory. Ladies, ladies, so many and such little space ... Sarah, I have never known someone with so much life - always ready for anything. Kelly, thanks for being there and keeping Sarah in line. To all my other Ho's, Tedward, Brendon, Adam, and Jeffrey, thank you for being my friends, much respect. Communism you are my #1. Devin, what can I say? ... You are a true friend and you won't be forgotten. Mo fyah. The following is a list of random occurrences that would matter to few, but are remembered forever: Maynard's parties, mini-ramp, ear and grandma, Chuck-Aviators-Wednesday, Club-Cookin with Bryan, Gentleman's Club, RHCP, Road Sittin',The Buckets, Montreal, Fear and Loathing, Smash Bros,Word. I came here by day, but I left here in darkness and found you on the way- Davey Havok- afi

TCS is a lot like a marathon. Along the way you cross different people, some to run and set your pace with, some who get tired and drop out, even more who you'd like to trip and knock out, and then those who just blaze by you with their long legs pumpin', slender body bouncin' and an amazing set of...shoes...yes, shoes. It's easy to say that I've enjoyed this 5 year marathon, and especially the people I've set my pace with. Brendon, Paul, Ted, Jeff, Maynard, Adam: I wish I was still in Hodgetts with you guys, we had some good times. But I guess its fate that I came to Bethune and met two of the best guys in the world. Ben, Caleb...man, these past two years have been incredible, never lose touch. And to Sarah, one word in a bajan accent: respect. The last thing I have to say is for my parents. I've never really expressed how much I appreciate everything you've given me, but here it is. Thank you for all the experiences and opportunities you've awarded me. Your respect means worlds to me. – Devo

TCS is not just about getting in trouble. Apart from the experience of getting 300 quarters, 12 gatings, a suspension, and having friends expelled, I have learnt a lot. Being in Trinity for three years was a big change for me - a change from living in a big city to living in a small town. One thing that I definitely miss is my friends. Caleb (Roommate): maybe by our five year reunion, you'll find a girlfriend. Kan: have fun with your twelve-year old. Ken: keep trying; don't keep your green hair. Hanson: think before you talk! Klau: good luck fishing! Honda: thanks for creating this dilemma. Juno: some day you'll be famous. Charmian: be optimistic! Claudia: maybe you should think about moving on. Rina: still remember your bomber head from my year 10 ... Devin: you could've gotten so much. Bethel: we almost made it; you are still my "gorh gorh". Maggie: maybe someday I can see you standing straight. To the rest of my friends, we had good times, thanks for always being there. To my family, thanks for your support.

Nap, day dreaming, wandering, icq, msn, internet, basketball, volleyball, indoor soccer, gym, a&p, tim's, mcs, becker's, dragon-bridge, jim's ... That's basically my life over the past twenty months ... TCS is fun.

TCS has above all been a foundation which I can build on, and for that I must thank a number of people. First of all my family. Mom, Dad, Natty, words can't express the gratitude I have towards you. Second, I must thank the teachers that have meant the world to me at this school: Messrs Hall, Wright, Wills, Hargraft, Aitchison, and Miss Turnbull. You went against the grain and rescued a lost child. Thirdly, I must thank the boys. Mike, you are like a brother to me. To the rest of the boys the times will never be forgotten and our lives will continue together, not apart (ML,DM,DS,BP JB,MM,GB,BC,DMa,RG,JK,CR,EL,IM). To all the girls, you know who you are, thank you for being there. I have had many hardships here, but they are outweighed by the good times. 1001 Bay (The Journey Continues), Dundas/Jarvis (Summer 2003), Rosedale/Summerhill (ML), Collingwood (BP Congo?), Montreal, Tremblant (DS, JB, Norwegians?) SF, Roommate (DS), ValleyArena HutPitLogHeavenBeachWesleyPipes, 2:30 Washroom Break (BC), Scotland, and finally MEXICO, where friendships were made to be kept.

So it's taken me a while to get to this and write down what it is I want to say. First off, as we all should, I would like to thank my parents for everything you have given me and the opportunity to go to TCS. Lord knows it was difficult at first, but ended up being an opportunity much worth taking. There are obviously people that deserve my thanks; cheers to roommates, housemasters, coaches and teachers (nor can I get away without thanking the cleaning ladies!!). As much as it is the most amazing feeling of freedom and accomplishment to be done, I would honestly be one of the first to get back on Wendy's school bus from Yorkdale and head back to Port Hope for another year with some of the greatest people I have ever met. But no. Of course not. It is time to move on and try to enjoy university like the times I did at TCS. To those that have been close to me, to those at Collingwood, Puerto Vallarta, and the numerous road trips, thanks again. And to anyone who wants to keep in touch, you know the solarium is always free.
Career done, bee!
Cheers to next year.

Well it's the close to another chapter of my life. It has been a hard rocky road but I finally made it!! I have so many amazing memories from this place.
I want to say thank you to so many people that I love and has helped me through my years a TCS. To Liam, you are my one and only. You have helped me find my way and opened my eyes to the greater possibilities of life. I love you with all my heart. To Kris, The police are coming!!! WHAP!! All the fun times in Kingston and the cottage. You are my best friend and always will be. I will never turn my back on you; you have my shoulder. Kyle, no bad dog!! You're just as blonde as I am. To everyone in Wright and Orchard, thanks for adopting me into the group; I couldn't have survived the year without you guys. And to my family, thank you for your undying support through the year, as well as giving me the opportunity to better myself. I love you.
Remember all the good times. Cherish all that you learn. Love the people that you're with because it's all over in a flash!
Peace to all, I'm out.

Liam Corcoran

Well, I was only at Trinity for a year so I don't have much to say about it. I can't believe I'm graduating. Cheers to all the boys and girls in the Big O, you know who you are. Lots of good times with Zac (viva la Mexico), O.E., Corrupted B-Sharp, M.G.D., Kyle "The Hamster is Dead" Moore and of course Jack and Daniel. Oh Yeah and Laura and Nate should feel free to name their firstborn after me. Many thanks to the three most important people in my life, my mom, Stacey and God. Stacey, you kept me going and I wouldn't be who I am if it wasn't for you. Mom, I owe you more than I can put into words, you are my inspiration. Also thanks to my dad and I couldn't forget all my friends in Vancity. Much love and respect. I'm Out. Peace. LC "Always do sober what you said you'd do drunk. "Life is a beautiful melody, just the lyrics are messed up"
The two years I have spent here taught me so much - good and bad. All that will be left soon is a ton of wonderful memories of the best two years of my life. Lying on the fields, trips to Vendo, staying up 'till 3 in the morning talking about the most random things, having laugh fits, playing in the rain, and so much more. Thanks to all you guys who made my time here so great. Kris, too much to say but I will never forget you. VLaP, you are the best roommate ever, go change the world and don't always listen to your head. Laura, relax and enjoy life. To everyone else who means so much to me (you know who you are), love ya' all and lets keep in touch. I will miss you! Thanks, Mami and Papi, for giving me the opportunity to come to TCS; it was the best thing you could have ever done for me. Krissi, never change for others; believe in yourself; hab dich lieb!

Kristen Mundy

...Thanks for a great time, TCS!

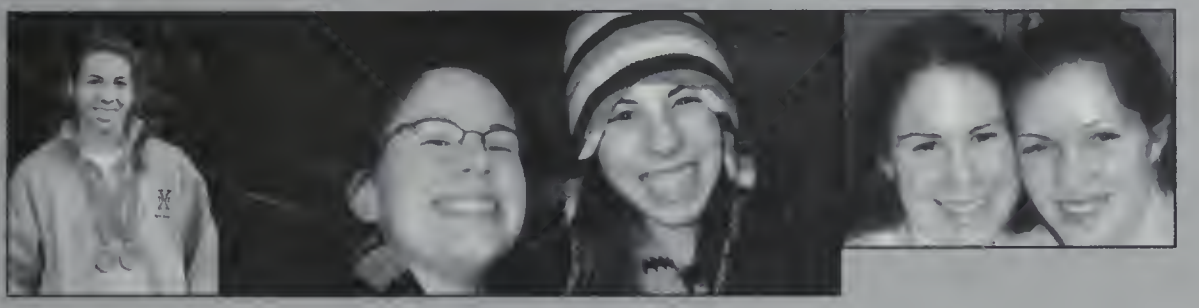

David Smith

To begin with, I thank my parents for giving me the opportunity of experiencing TCS for five years. I appreciate the support and guidance you've given me over the years. To my coaches who were my mentors every season and helped me succeed: TL, Mr. Allen, Mr. Hall and Mr. Wright. To PK, I would not be where I am today without your faith. Amy, thanks for being there for me. You'll be great wherever you end up. Finally, to all those who made this school bearable and never broke traditions. The boys. You know who you are, and our memories won't be forgotten. Sutton, Collingwood, Tremblant, Mexico X2, Fern Gully, Smythe House, Parker's Cottage, D's place, Halifax X2, Dempster Island, May 24 road trip '03, SF, England. Conyers, lead well and keep Bulldog traditions strong. To the boys in 3FN and Bickle 300's, THUNDERBALL! Matty, SWITCH! GU, BP, DM, where's Lawrence? ABP guys, I was proud to be a member.
To future generations, two things will always remain the same: Bethune dominates House Olympics, and no matter what they say, streaking is a good idea.

I'm not usually good at this kind of stuff, but we'll see if I can get my thoughts on paper. Firstly and mostly, I must thanks "the 'rents." Mom and Dad, you really gave me the opportunity of a lifetime because, Lord knows, if I stayed in Trenton I would not be going to university. Also for sticking through the hard times with me, seeing as how I'm not the model student. Also thanks to PK, for keeping me in line when the parents weren't around. To Sarah, we both knew this time would come. Thanks for the memories and for putting up with me. And good luck in England - you'll do great. In regards to TCS, most people badmouth it, and in some aspects they are right. But if it weren't for TCS, I would not have known the good friends I've made. To those boys, and you know who you are, you made my stay at TCS bearable, and the weekends memorable. So I leave you with this; do not forget the times we had because memories are what make life. And later on down the road, there will be more memories to be had. To the future generations, do not live your life by the book, and rules were made to be broken.

The time has come ... I am finally graduating! Although I have only been at TCS for two years I've learned so much. I have experienced many memorable moments as well ... my fear of coming to a totally new school, homesickness, stressful moments which involved my "favourite" subject math, fun Harriers races particularly at OFSAA, playing the best game on earth – hockey with the Lady Bears ("the onion incident"), having a blast playing soccer (mmmm...cookies), having wild parties in V and D's room, good chats with Abby, late night talks with Josie, surviving AP history, and of course the good old train rides home. Thanks so much to all of my wonderful friends, especially Abby, Vanessa, Daniela, Ben J. and my best buddy forever, Steph K. Special thanks to my hero, Mr. Geale, as well as Mr. Wright, Mr. McCord, and all of the other awesome people who have had such a profound impact on me. I also cannot express in words how grateful I am to my incredible parents. Thanks so much for both supporting and allowing me to have the opportunity to attend TCS!

Abby Colwell

With only 200 words, I had to convey my gratitude to many people personally, therefore this list is incomplete. Firstly, I would like to thank my parents, especially for that outdoor rink you made when I was a kid, papa. Secondly, Garth, I could not have made it without you. Thank you. Mrs. Christ, words cannot describe how much you mean to me. The third floor. Courtney, Wow. Mr. Robert, did you know 'department head' came along with extra advisees? Dave, you made my dream come true. Thank you. Traugotts=great people. Collins=so nice. Gram and Gramp, you never missed. REbecca, you are almost as crazy as I am and so much fun. Hollie, I could be anywhere, always surreal we ARE team cool. Laura, you are already a star. Frances, my ultimate best friend. Ben, I will always be here. Brady, you've got my vote. Rob, Victor, Liz, Kay, Megs, Fong, so many laughs. To D, V, and Kris: I love you. To everyone who let me be myself: thank you. Michael, my angel. Jeffrey, Ashley, and KatieGibbs, love you so much. TCS I've grown to love, but now I must go home, "The woods are lovely dark and deep, but I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep, and miles to go before I sleep."

Don't cry because it's over
Smile because it happened.
Two years... I never thought they would go by this fast..
There are so many good and bad memories with TCS.
I love u Mummy and Daddy
Thank you both for everything that you give me
Traugott, Hensley, Malenfant, Miller, and Pain
Thanks for listening to me, keeping me in line!
If you didn't believe in me I wouldn't be able to write this.
Hae-Rang, u r my best friend, I love u so much.
I will never forget our adventurous night walks.
Without u I wouldn't survive. J
Hang in there.Good luck next year.
JeL, DK, DC, WoA, SJ, JiL, HH, AB, SW, AC, KD, RB, CS, SG and RL.
I love u dearly! Keep in touch!
Ketchum girls...I love u all and I am going to miss u all!
And one thing is for sure, I will never forget U and our first meeting on June 16 2002.
Watch out New York City and world; here I come!

I can't believe I wasted the best three years of my life in here. I can't say I enjoyed the years of my life here, but TCS has given me the chance to do stuff I've never done before and helped me grow stronger and more independent. Cow: miss me miss me n miss me. Hot uni guys next year hop u'll get girly!! mag: add oil! u will have perfect English soon! will miss the bball nights! G-fish: stop singing twins n keep the eyesi n (jk)! BB:do what u wanna do, trust yourself 'n dun let ppl get you down; also miss me. mouth: hope u'll have more Cl2! do not swallow ppl's mouths when smoochin. Hanson: uni chem will be easier than at TCS! I won't make fun of your weight anymore. Jim: go straight. Charz: be smart! sorri for being mean sometimes ... try some fish heads with dha.. jk! s : thx for yelling shut up! had fun gossiping! keep in touch!! laura: have fun in uni n be social queen. everyone else: have fun here, gd luck n miss me! keep in touch!

SIX YEARS. Thank you, parents and Mr. Large, for being far too benevolent and Mr. McCord – THE BEST teacher I've ever had. You've all seen me do some pretty immature things, like drinking vinegar, not attending chapel or quarters for half the year for 15 bucks, and turning Hodgetts into a native reserve. Well I'm not going to change - look out Guelph, here I come. I'd like to thank Taylor – I think of Brendon as the little angel on my right shoulder, and then Greg – the little devil on my left. How could I forget Ted, hey Ted remember that time we completely destroyed Jess Ritchie's binder? That was 'gold' as you would put it. And Charters he's a great friend as is Jeff. To the rest of my Ho's: Go Rico it's your birthday, drop "noocs" not bombs, and keep collecting those petro-points, chief. To everyone else – thanks for paying for my coffee, and just listening. I'll always be there to steal you napkin dispensers and make fun of your culture and heritage. Last but not least – Chinchilla + Dagoo everlasting...

The road unwinds toward me
What was there is gone
The road unwinds before me
And I go riding on
It's my turn to drive

It's time to move on. To all my friends - you know who you are - I can't say enough about you guys so I'll just say THANKS. To Mom, Dad and Ashley, without you, I wouldn't have survived so THANK YOU. To TCS, five years is more than enough but I'm sure I'll be as grateful as I should be some day.
Brendon Geoffrey Taylor

Jeff Biggar

You can always have too much of a good thing, and even though TCS has been quite the experience, it is finally time to leave. A very special thank you goes to my parents for their love and support. Not a day goes by that I am not thankful for what you have given me. Brendon, I don't think I could have done this without you. I love you like a brother and through it all you're one of the few people I can call a true friend. Vanessa, my partner in crime, you're an amazing person and I thank you for everything we've shared together, good and bad. Have fun next year and try to take it easy on those little boys. Teddy G, we'll always have the Haunted Woods. Charters, if I make it big, you can produce my cd. Feds, thanks for everything and good luck with the house. Graham, Andrew, and Laura, don't worry, you'll make it. Mr. Parker, your love of music inspires me in many ways, and who knows, maybe I will be a musician one day. To those who are not yet mentioned (you know who you are), please keep in touch next year and thanks for the good times, they will not be forgotten.
To those who search for happiness through the weaknesses of others, my pity I give to you. To those who have found true happiness, my envy I give to you.
Go wherever the music takes you,
Jeff

Ted Gorsline

It seems like yesterday we were in Grade 7 getting q's from Mrs. Dew for jumping out windows, and here I am now. I'd like to thank Mrs. Dew for my fun times as a Totty, and Mr. Large, my amazing Housemaster, who is as inspiring as he is supportive. I'd like to thank the miracle worker that is Mr. Kedwell for getting me into university. All the boys from Ho, Taylor, Begro, Charters, Harman, Adam and Janicki, you guys are my bruddas from a different mutta and made this year bearable and fun. My sweetheart Serra, my love for you is only matched by my gratefulness for sharing time with you. Mom, Dad and Emma, thanks for always being supporting and loving, and always believing in me and giving me so many opportunities. Now some wisdom from six years of TCS: For one, despite popular opinion, SARS is not funny. Secondly, the Leafs will win the cup again; it's just a matter of time. Lastly, in the words of Okimau: "Don't judge a man, by the dirt underneath his fingernails."
See you all at Tapio's bar and grill!
Noonway,

Victor Sander

I wouldn't want to have missed my two years at TCS for anything in the world. I want to thank all the teachers and students who supported me so much and made me feel at home here. I could not have done it without you. Smokey, thanks for your patience and help during my first year - it was a great time. Ben, I had an awesome time with you as my roommate. Thanks for the counseling; you really helped me to get through this second year so well. I wish all of you the best for your future. Mr. Keiser, Mr. Pinches and Mr. Black, I want to thank you for making Bethune such a great place that always felt like a home to me. Of course, I thank my family for making all of this possible. The time here went by so quickly that I would stay longer if I could. But I guess life is too short to play cricket so I will move on. Good luck to all of you who graduate and all those who are still going to be here next year. I am looking forward to see all of you again in five years at the latest.

Ben Johnson

I cannot express my thanks in 200 words. Maybe those who have come before me can do a better job then I can: Megan and Michelle: "No soul is desolate as long as there is a human being for whom it can feel trust and reverence." –Eliot. Gomez: Never lose the spirit of wonder you have inside of you. Don't get too much sun. Abby: "Better to light a candle than to curse the darkness." -Chinese Proverb. Frances: "The person who makes a success of living is the one who see his goal steadily and aims for it unswervingly. That is dedication." -DeMille. Victor: "Everyone has a talent. What is rare is the courage to nurture it in solitude and to follow the talent to the dark places where it leads." -Jung. Rob: "Taking photographs... is a way of shouting, or freeing oneself, not of proving or asserting one's own originality. It is a way of life." -Henri Cartier-Bresson. LaPointe: "When asked how much educated men were superior to those uneducated, Aristotle answered, 'As much as the living are to the dead.'" –Laertius. Brady: Even though I am Canadian, you still get my vote. My Teachers: "Education is the movement from darkness to light." –Bloom. Thank you for helping me and encouraging me to make the move.

Zack Osborne

You know, most people think that I'm a horrible person, but really, I have the heart of a young child....in a jar on my desk. Firstly, to my friends: McCulloch and Bakker – Wakeups are the pits! Bryan – everybody dies...even mommy and daddy. Alandas – you are my bigside team. C. – thanks for letting me win at scrabble. Mom & Dad – You sacrificed a lot for me to be here; in the beginning I hated you for sending me, but you really did save my life. I've learned a lot at TCS; the important lessons were out of the classroom. I survived three annual TCS winter depressions; if I can make it out alive, anybody can. Some tips: Listen to Dashboard, steal bowling shoes, stay away from Ketchum, don't be fake, be an individual, learn from your mistakes, and get pierced. If you see a dog... run. Tell the truth...it'll save you trouble. No regrets. True to me, true to you. I'M GONE! and yes, PREfect IS PERfect with the letters moved around. See Andy?
"Don't ever tell anybody anything. If you do, you start missing everybody." – Holden Caulfield

Being at TCS has changed me, but for better or worse, I have yet to discover. Three rugby seasons have both driven me insane and kept me sane, and I'd like to thank all the coaches, and anyone I ever played alongside. Being your captain this year was an honour. Art trips have been amazing; thank you, Andrew, for the experience. Willzie and Broughie, thank you, your friendships have meant more than I could ever put into words. Megan, OB 2.5 seconds. Zack, you have been my one constant through it all; thanks for putting up with me. Ash, you've given me strength, I love you. TCS has taught me two things: I am way too obsessive, and if you see a dog, run like hell. One gating, three years and three roommates later, I have survived and am stronger for it. To future grads, stick in there - TCS isn't as bad as you think it is. Thank you, Mom and Dad, for everything (and I really mean it). Finally to my one true Bigside Team, rain or snow, keep at it; you'll get those ties one day. I'll catch you on the flipside. Tempus Fugit.

Thanks for everything, it's been great.

The opportunities my parents gave me by sending me here have been endless, and for that I owe them a great deal. TCS has been a great place to spend the last two years; many great memories have accumulated over my time here. The friends I made will never be forgotten, and Ketchum House will always be remembered as a great place to be. One important thing I learnt here is that if you want to do something, go for it! If there's no sport or club here that suits you, make it happen. Become a leader. In the words of Ralph Emerson, "Do not go where the path may lead; go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

"Whenever you find yourself on the side of the majority, it is time to pause and reflect." –Mark Twain A few memories…Away games…The 401 …Long train rides home...The Boyardee situation …Grafton Capella…"Studying" in the library… Holland…ISD…John the Baptist and Matthew... The Tarragon...Hosting OFSAA basketball...The Dollar Store...Sitting on the benches all weekend ...AFI…The Establishment…Snood…Julia Laurier and Claire Faucet…Tim Horton's…Slushies…The British Tea Room…Bulk Barn. Jenna and Faye, we will always be "PARTIAL" best friends, I will miss you both so much! Traugs, Hensley, and Mrs. Jakic, thank you for understanding. Ketchum - you are like family, keep the spirit alive!! With this experience I've learned much more about life than academics could ever offer, and I will never forget it. I have been able to live my dreams through the support of my family. Mom and Dad, you have always trusted and encouraged me and I can't thank you enough for all the sacrifices you've made. Christina and Cathy, my big sisters, I will always admire your strengths. I love you all more than you can imagine. - Dana… aka DW, Bearface, Dee, Wesley, Dede, Moose Factory…

These two years at TCS have been quite interesting. New things always seem to appear and old things seem to change. To my volleyball gurls: you guys have made my two years on the team the greatest, but last year it was the ultimate best! I will never forget you guys. I will miss you girls so much; you guys are like sisters to me. Thanks and good luck next year! Jenna, Dana and Candice my three best friends- you guys always made me laugh and were always there for me! Thanks! I am seriously going to miss you girls so much next year. To my fourth floor chickas-nadinee, Loddie, Ardfard, Sammie, criss cross, chickenbutt, kels, and buchwild: you guys keep doing your thing! Caro and Caroline: remember the T.O nights we had!!!Love you all! Keep in Touch

As I reminisce on my five years of high school, I would like to thank some special people who shine above the rest. Mom and Dad, thank you for all you have done for me and for your constant support. Michael, thanks for listening to me and being a friend. Sorry about the long rides you had to endure. You're the best brother. Mr. O'Malley, my principal in grade 9, your sincerity was heartwarming. My grade 10 science teacher, Mr. Friesen, thanks for your kindness and for inspiring me to take so many science courses. Mr. Anderson, you're a wonderful teacher. Thank you for your continual support and encouragement. Miss Hands, you're great. Dr. DuBroy, English is cool. Mr. Hedney, chemistry is a blast. Mr. Stevens, math is my first love. Thank you to all the teachers that inspired me. To my friends who graduated last year: TCS was not the same without you. Julia, I'm looking forward to our summer in Europe. "Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon 'em." Twelfth Night To all my friends, good luck and may you all achieve greatness.

Elizabeth Gomez

After three years, it seems strange to finally be leaving. If there's one thing that this school has taught me, it's how to face a challenge. It's unfortunate that I won't have my advisor, Broughy, there to help me out, who was more of a friend than a teacher. It's all been worthwhile from meeting the future president of the United States to "before break" traditions to Smallville nights or, perhaps a better word would be Smallville obsessions, and overtired clumsy moments. I don't think you realize this, Mom and Dad, but I appreciate these experiences and your support more than words can ever say . I also couldn't have done it without friends. There were many times when I almost didn't make it out of bed, but that's what friends are for. Without my friends, you know who you are, I wouldn't have made it to my graduation! This wouldn't be complete without a thank you to my teachers. Each and every one of you, whether forcing me to study or guiding me towards being a better person, are an essential part of the Trinity experience, my experience. To everyone who's still at Trinity next year, make sure that you keep the traditions alive and keep in touch! I'll miss you all but it's time to take a deep breath, step back and move on. Keep smiling and stay strong! Love always, Elizabeth Gomez

I arrived with so little, but I am leaving with so much. Three years have evaporated like a dream; yet, nothing could have been more real. The school, once so foreign, became a cornerstone of my memories. The people, once total strangers, became my best friends. Three Canadian winters, three years of dorm life, homesickness, peaks, troughs, ups, downs, lefts, rights! I have been through all that. I had my many moments of glories. I also have fallen, stumbling down the hill. Thank you for not leaving me behind, for believing in me when I did not believe in myself, and most of all, for getting me here at the first place. I could not have done it without you. Regrets, of having hurt you so bad, of screwing up, of my own stupidity, immaturity, misunderstandings and bad decisions. You mean to me more than you know it. I am sorry. So much cannot be said, nor explained in words. Having met you made me 'the luckiest'. You are the closest it gets to perfect. I love you. Finally, I made it this far. Wow, couldn't have been better!

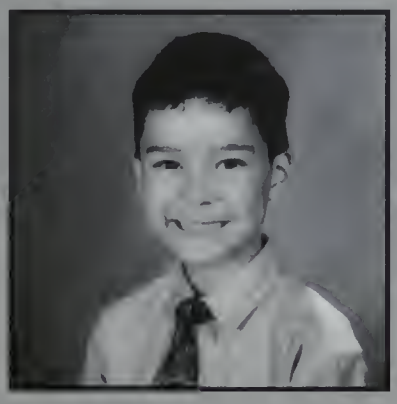

Sara Tanner

Herro to evelybody! Zac, Nikki (NAKA), Warren, Kyla, Brown, Bianca, ARX, Dave, Dylie, Davis, Tina, Rachie, Blett, Kienan, Erika, Vanessa, Lalitha, Stacey, Max, Liam, Nate, Kristen, Amy, and last but not least, Laura! Warren – the happy, bi-racial sperm whale with a giant blowhole lives forever!! We'd best keep in touch, Nikki, you are the fugliest, never stop falling up and down the stairs whilst spilling hot chocolate all over the stairwell. No, Dave, YOU 'Olfpo' off!! Ha! I beat the censorship system and got my point across to you because Olfpo is EVERYTHING! (and everyone.) And ya, Pime, Dylie, when you're sad, think of the rotten fish story. Brown... you are so brown. Never forget about Mabel! Bianca, I want to punch holes, don't you? Bradshaw, you're a stripper. Erika, Davis, and Vanessa, I'm making the summer school noise!!! Lalitha! I spelled it right, but you know I'm pronouncing it wrong. Rachie, Clifford will take Deloris out for brunch sometime! Ken, Mints, Thanks. That's a lovely duvet you have, Zac, wanna tell me where you got it? For three familiar words, refer to your own quote. Everybody – these last two years were the best of my life!! I HEART ALL OF YOU!

Nikki Hayter

I can't believe how many times I've fallen up and down the stairs this year. Sara, you are the fugliest, and you can't even cut an avacado!!! Remember AMBER from SUZY? COME ON WOMAN! Warren, I'm never working with you again, and I WILL get the last pantsing! Or will it be butter? Justin, I hate you when you're like that! We haven't gone yet as I'm writing this, but I bet Sean Paul was a blast! Did you like NAKA's outfit? HehehehE... Tina, remember the joke we played on Alex? That's the best acting I've ever done – did I ever mention that I'm a horrible actress? I can't believe we kept straight faces throughout the whole thing. You know what else I can't believe? I can't believe that SARA is writing my grad quote for me. I am Fugly. Bianca, I love how you waited, stopped, and then honked. That was great. Caitlin, I will be back no matter what you think! Amy, remember the party at your house ?! Fun!...??? I will miss you all!! You'd best come visit me, or the B* will be back! NAKA byebye. (I Love Shania Twain!)

Kienan Williams

Meegwetch to everyone who has and will continue to help me on my journey. I would like to thank my mom for all her support and encouragement, both of which she never ceases to provide. To my friends, we may stay together or grow apart but these last few years have been exciting and unique. I'll never find another neighbour like Emily. I have attended numerous schools and none have been as valuable and enriching as the TCS experience.

I believe a person can only be who they are, no more, no less. One can only hope to receive this statement as a compliment, not an excuse.

Meegwetch,

Wow, high school has flown by and my two years at TCS have been a blur of the best years of my life. TCS has given me so much opportunity. Now all I have to do is make use of it. I'd like to thank my teachers and coaches for putting up with me. Thanks to all my friends also; you have no idea how much I've learned from you all. I only hope you have learned something in return. My final advice for the very few who care is to live, love, and die while trying to find your own answers and meaning. But we are all just the sum of our choices and actions, so choose and act wisely. Until then...

I'm finally graduating! I'd like to thank my parents for sending me to TCS where I learn to become the person I am today. Eminem, I mean Peter, remember that you control your own fate and that you can allow yourself to succeed. Mr. Large and Mr. Cameron, thanks for welcoming me with open arms and guiding me for four years as Housemasters. Mr. McCord, thanks for sticking with me all the time and pushing me to succeed. Thanks to all my coaches in soccer, basketball and baseball, for teaching me how to improve. I'd like to thank my friends who are always there for me when I'm being stupid and when we're hanging out. J.C., W.D., S.T., N.H., R.S., A.W., Z.F., N.C., A.D., B-sharp, L.M., B.M., D.J., Amar, K.M., S.D., T.E., K.W., E.K., B.G., K.C., S.Y., and J.R., thank you for making my years at TCS so much fun by doing stupid stuff, but respectable stuff. I'll remember: "jesseleen", rabid squirrels, grilled cheese, 1 hour photo, olfpo, yar, Nigeria please and gr.10 T.O. bus ride. A "wise" person once said, "Alaska is just north of Canada and I read a good book instead of marking your ISPs." Thanks for the memories TCS. I will never forget them.

Justin Chopra

"High School is like toilet paper because you never really miss it till it's gone." Four years and four million bus rides later, I finally made it. I was afraid of what it felt like to come here; now I'm afraid of what it'll feel like to leave. I've lived, laughed, and learned. Warren, D-Gadd, Rach, Bianca, Kedwell, Sara, Nikki, A-Wil, Chief, A-Dawg, Dylan, K-Moore, Lali, Cheehs, Smart, Rishi, Mathieson, (the one and only) Lil J…and everyone else at TCS: we shared some great times together - never let our crazy memories die. Mom and Dad, thanks for making the huge sacrifice to send me to Trinity. Big thanks to Traugs, Feds, PK, TL, Mr. Reid, Large, and Cameron … the best around. To RP, I cannot express how lucky I was to have such a great advisor … and friend. I will leave this place with so many memories: Cuba/Boston, 1 Hour Photo, Denny's, Gr.10 Math, Rachel's Neighbours … and the list goes on. If there's one thing I've learned here, it's this: "Never strive to be average; it's as close to the bottom as it is to the top."

If you need me…my number's in the phone book.

Signing out one last time. Peace.

Three years at TCS went by quicker than I thought and one thing I've learned is that you have to live your life one day at a time or else it's just too much to deal with. Another major thing that life at TCS taught me is how to use procrastination and that sometimes it doesn't work. I would like to start off by thanking my family, especially my parents for giving me the best by sending me here and helping me get through it. Although TCS was full of classes, h/w and chapel a big part of it was the friends and the memories made. Things that will never be forgotten: B-Day at Denny's, Rachel's stories of Gr.5, deck jumping, rabid squirrels, candy fight, the 4th, and the daily routine of chapel skipping (Meek). As for my friends, Justin, you were like my joker

Nathan Caruana

Four years I have spent at TCS, and they were all great, thanks to my friends and family. Many people have made me laugh, and I have made them laugh as well. My parents and teachers were a big part in my success, but I cannot forget Laura. Laura and my parents always believed in me, and I thank them for that. I have learned a lot from TCS, which has prepared me for the future. One saying I will not forget, is one said by Mr. Gregg, "Have a go." I believe if you 'have a go' at everything, you will regret nothing, and vice versa.

Jamsheed Minwalla

These four years at TCS have been the best experience of my life. I am grateful to my parents for giving me this opportunity. Mr. Hall, you were the perfect Housemaster - thanks for teaching me all those valuable lessons. Ben, we survived each other for three years without getting into even one fight. Joseph, you're a great person and the nicest guy I know. Caroline, let's go fast like a man. Amanda, you make me happier than you can ever imagine, and I never want to lose you. Mr. McCord, you are the best teacher I ever had - thanks for all the milkshakes. Mr. Large, thank you for teaching me so much about responsibility, respect, and growing up. I'm going to miss Cricket, Basketball, Volleyball, and Football. Oh by the way, I got away with all night internet, getting out of Brent every night, and no quarters. Brent is by far the best house.

Ay Relax.

Probably the best decision I ever made was agreeing to write the TCS entrance test back in Yellowknife four years ago. Since then I have finally begun to fully appreciate the opportunity that I had in coming here. First off, I must thank my family for everything they've ever done for me. There is no way I would have made it this far without you. I love you all. Secondly, what makes life worthwhile is the people you choose to spend it with. What made Trinity worthwhile were the people who shaped my time here. Jamsheed, you've been the best roommate I could ask for; you've got a friend for life. Mr. Wright, Campbell: thanks for everything; have a good one. To everyone who means anything to me, I hope you know it, and I will miss you. Stay in touch because I'm horrible at writing letters, and no matter what happens in life, keep your head up and you will succeed because you're all great people. If that fails, then you can always sleep on my couch as long as Purz isn't already there.

Final Advice: Make the best of every opportunity you get, because you might as well.

Check it yo…
This goes out to all y'all TCS peeps, who thought we'd never amount to nothing.

We had a bunch of good times
Im a gonna tell you 'bout them in these rhymes
First of all, we'd like to thank our moms and dads
Without you we wouldn't be grads
A lot of great moments happened while here
A Canada GOLD and GREEN Jacket, Weir
To all those people who stayed true to us
We put our faith in you and we'll always trust
First shout out to our main man
If anyone can succeed, we know you can
To all the Bethune crew
Thanks for putting up with us and staying true
To our one Brent boy Rohn Knowles
We'll see you after school to score some goals
To all our boys back in K-town
We'll be back soon, holdin it down
For real though, to Cane, Vanessa and Sly
I know we're leaving, but baby don't cry
206 Bethune was the place to be
From the late night talks, to sippin on green tea
We always loved chillin' on the terrace
Playing football, baseball, slammin' homeruns like Roger Maris
For all the time we spent up in the weight room
If not our minds, at least our bodies we'd groom
We're out of school now yo'
Time to succeed in this world and make some dough.
Peace

I came in tears and leave in tears. But for two different reasons. Getting here hasn't been easy, but I have evolved, and learnt. Learnt the meaning of kindred spirits, learnt what it is to fall in love. Learnt what it is to be on your own, and what it is to be together. I have learnt the magnificence of laughing in the sunshine, and the loneliness of crying in the night. I have learnt the importance of silent moments where everything that's not said is understood. To abbreviate this in two hundred words isn't fair. There will never be enough words for a time that has been too rich for words, too full of life and lessons. But, life is unfair, and you just have to keep rolling with it. To my parents, you have been my backbone, and I will never be able to thank you enough for your support and sacrifices. To Graeme, your pecan pie has impacted me more than you will ever know. To my kindred spirits, you have been my wings, and I will never let go of that. The sound of a train will always remind me of something so right.

Caroline Sands

Where to start?! I've decided 200 words is not enough to explain everything I've learnt here … most of it not in a classroom. I can't even begin to thank everyone individually for what they have given me, so I'll say it in so many words: If you mean something to me, you already know it. The year had a bumpy start, but I know when I look back on it, I'll remember the smiles and the tears with equal importance … I have my family and friends – here & at home – to thank for sharing the fun times and sticking with me through the low - though it almost seems the hardest thing I've had to do here is face leaving.

Mum & Dad, I love you more. Lucy & Sarah, I can't believe I'm on my own again next year already … I'm sure you both realize I'm nowhere near grown up yet! Lisa & Laura, I think you're the strongest people I know, and Vanessa, you have your own place in my heart. I'm so lucky to be surrounded by the BEST people in the world, and I can only wish all of you the same luck that I have had so far!

The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams. – Eleanor Roosevelt

Seventeen years is a long time to spend attached to one place yet, I cannot imagine myself anywhere else. I MUST thank my parents: Mom – your constant love and encouragement has helped me every step of the way; PK – I never said it enough, but I always appreciated your support. To my teachers and coaches – many thanks for your help along the way. Cheers to the swimmers! Soccer girls – I am fortunate to have been part of such a hardworking team; side before self … every time. Thank you to all those involved in JSH for the experience of a lifetime – I am forever indebted. To those who have shared the experience with me … Bella, V-CHA, Jess, Lalitha and Jess – may the Rigby sisterhood remain strong! Those in Wright and Orchard – thanks for the good times! Ketchumites – you're the best neighbours a girl could ask for … Friday dinners forever! Brin, Nej, LongSTER and SAGA – thanks for being such awesome friends! There are so many others that go unmentioned, but whose friendship I am truly grateful for. It's time to take the next step … kedwell

Looking back on my time at TCS, I recall my first day – rushing and arriving late for chapel, in keeping with months of what had been a whirlwind of change. Half-committed to TCS and starting grade 10, I was overwhelmed and in need of much guidance and direction. In retrospect, these last three years have been a period of personal growth and new beginnings - an enriching experience, which has extended my reach. Now, as I am preparing to take a nervous yet certain step forward, I am incredibly thankful to have taken the path, which led me to TCS. To my family, I love you. Thank-you, Martha Perry, for listening and having faith in me, when I needed it the most. To Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Ayotte, thank-you for your support. To the many faculty, you are exemplary teachers, thank-you. Tucker, thank-you for leading me to Jamaica. Thank-you to all the Rigby girls for filling my days with laughter. To the many wonderful people, who comprise the TCS community, I am honoured that our paths crossed.

Always, Bianca

"Savour your yesterdays, dream your tomorrows, and live your todays." When I arrived here at TCS three years ago, I could have never imagined it could turn out like this. I have lived, I have laughed, I have learned, and I have had the time of my life! To my family, a simple thank you would never do. There are no words to express how grateful I am for this opportunity that you have given me. To my girls, I don't know where to begin. I could have never done it without you! Thank you for all the laughs and the tears; I will carry these memories with me always. I love you all. To Sue and Tricky Ricky, you have provided me with my home away from home. Thank you for all the love and support you have given to me these past three years. Well guys, this is it! To all the grads good luck in everything that you choose do! The past four years have been amazing. I never knew I could learn so much in one place. I came here not really knowing what to expect and I leave here not knowing what the future holds. The experiences I have shared with people here, I will never forget, I have never laughed so hard in my life. Thanks, Mom and Dad, for this adventure; you have had to put up with a lot and you were so supportive. Jack and Mike, good luck here - I know you will love it as much as I did. This basketball season was our best ever; I have never had so much fun, and we were incredible. I will always remember Sunny Days at Dairy Queen. Coach, thanks for instilling in me the love of the game. Trauggs and Christ, thanks for always being there and telling me to be quiet. Katy, Lindsay, Caroline, Caro, Steph and Stubbs, we have shared some amazing times and I will never forget them, especially our dance parties. Matt, where to start, you are amazing - you have made this year unbelievable, and I have never been happier. Life wouldn't be the same without you and the memories you have given me. Thanks Trinity, it's been great. - Barbara

In the past three years, I have discovered that time flies when you're having fun, or when you're overwhelmed with homework, but either way these past three years have gone by too fast. TCS has taught me many things, as much a cliché as that may sound. I've learned that duck tape is the most useful thing you will ever buy, and that friends are the most useful things you will ever have. It has taught me how to laugh until you can't laugh any longer and how to procrastinate properly. TCS has taught me more than what I can learn in a class room or from textbooks. It has allowed me to explore and discover new talents and meet incredible people. To all my friends, words can't express how much you mean to me - thank you for making my life that much better. I can't remember all the times I told myself to hold on to these moments as they passed. Mom and Dad I hope that one day you'll be as proud of me as I am of you, I love you so much. Thank you for the amazing opportunities. Mitch and Kris, thanks for leading the way. Now move aside - it's my time to lead. I love you.

Serra Gozoren

This was more than an opportunity and I am grateful to those that made it happen. Mum and Dad, even half way across the world you guys have ALWAYS been there. Your support and love means the world to me. I love you guys. Ilke, my brother, supported me and got me through by saying, "Don't work too hard...just work smart." I love you. My group of girls, thanks for being there for me; I hope I did the same. I'll always treasure our night time chats, pranks, big ears hunt, hopeful diets, dance parties, EVERYTHING! I love you guys. Boys...mmm...aviators, parties, mullet, my height...ALWAYS remember the good times. Finally Ted. You got me through it all and in my heart there's always a special place for you. You've opened my eyes. I only hope I've done more for you. I love you. Thanks to TCS, my teachers, the Traugotts, Christs, and Collins for looking after me. I leave this place not sad, but assured that I am ready to try everything that I can. After all we only have one chance to live and with it I might as well try everything and make the best of it! Good luck to all! Serra

Stefan Chin

First of all I would like to thank my parents who were always there for me and gave me this opportunity for a better education. I have learnt a lot during my time here at TCS. I have learnt that there is more to life than Trinidad and I should try to be more open to new experiences. I have made many new friends here, and I tried to make the best of this opportunity. I studied and did what I had to do and now it's time to move on as I go to face another big challenge, University. Before I go I just want to hail out the G unit [gym crew], Hutch, Dustin, Weed, Rob, Froggy, Arthur, Georgie, the Gentles brothers, Slammin Sam, Bethel, Skinner [SSB is d baddest game], the Brent house OACs, Bob, Matty, Rohn, Ben, Jam, Smith

Well TCS is finally over, and what a ride it's been. I have to say two years have gone by pretty quickly. First off, I want to thank my parents for sending me here, even if I didn't always make it easy on you. Without your support I would not be where I am today. Football season speaks for itself, but don't worry, Mr. Allen, the winning years are soon to arrive again. To the boys, Bickle/Brent, you guys made this place a blast. DM, BP, JB, ST, GU, DS, NB, thanks a lot, 'cause I would have never been able to handle it. Thanks, Parker, for what you showed me. And guys, I'll give it to you, your city ain't all that bad. Good luck next year; we're finally free.
Kali

Richard Godin

Although coming to TCS was one of the worst choice i ever made, i achieved going through it because of the people that made my time here not so bad. The long nights with the Bickle boys: D-Man, screnan, duspin(just me and you left b!), kali who doesn't know what I'm talking about since he was probably sleeping while everything happened, Hutch you're d hash B!! the other boys that made me laugh: Parker, Gordo, Smitty, Grego, my bajan brothers! And also to the girls that made my time here incredible and who I enjoyed spending time with more than anyone else - if I flirted with you, I probably meant it - hope you enjoyed it but thanx to my beloved kelli! You're the best ever - I couldn't have done it without you, I love you. Mr Allen, although I'm winless at Trinity in any sport, Football was good. I'm happy to leave TCS without any enemies, and I love you all more than you think! And you all rich and sheltered kids made me taste the great life and the fear of losing everything that I have, but I'd rather live with the hope of gaining everything.

Bill Cruess

How can one measure the gratitude due to those who most deserve it? To my family and especially my parents, thank you for your support and love. The opportunity you provided me with is invaluable. Campbell, thanks for teaching me what it is to be a Brent boy and showing me how much better rugby is than rowing ... that's right. PK, thanks for all your help and guidance; you got me through my OAC year successfully. FD, thanks for steak dinners on the BBQ when School was too stressful. Thank you. To all my friends, we've had some great times. Late night bathroom breaks with GU. Festing with MM & GB. Halifax. Ohio and the pressbox. Rahilly's. And always remember, only Dale can turn up the volume. Wootton is always the youngest, and Davey is the king of the castle.

To my family, Mom and Dad, thank you for giving me a second chance. Julia this is where you belong. Do it right and never look back. To my friends, it's been swell, good times and bad. To PK, you're my mentor. To Campbell and Garth, you guys have been great confidants. To Caroline, you will always be my Annie Hall. Things to remember: Listening to Bob Dylan and Joni Mitchell will always set you free. Rock 'n' roll. Woody Allen is in a league of his own. William Blake is right when he says "Everything that lives, lives not alone, nor for itself." Jack Nicholson is the coolest man to ever live. To the people who matter most, my family, thanks for everything. Mom, occasionally you went overboard but most of the time it was warranted. Dad, my first line of defense, thanks for the wisdom and for keeping me on track, Neil, for helping me to keep it real, and Martha (mom^2) for paving the way, thank-you both. Campbell and Garth, thank-you for your help and support. To Focker, Billy, Urquhart, Smitty, Bobby, Matty and Brennan, and to the girls, these last two years have been awesome, thank-you; I think Collingwood summed it up. Good luck in the future. I will see you on the flip side. Berg, Deluce, Mac, Pat, Edelberg, Jon, Cheunger, Showtime, all the girls and any and all that I missed, I have had the best of both worlds with all of you in TO. I'd also like to thank all the people whom I was close to. I wouldn't have made it through without you guys. JS RD RJ BB JM RP AJ TG and all the guys in Bickle. I can't forget my coaches either. Thanks to you guys for inspiring me to kind of avoid slacking off.
Oh, and Bathe. I'll never let you win.

Where to begin ...Trinity has been my home for four years. Now it's time to face the real world and move away from this spoon-fed world. So many memories, glimmers, have made my time here unforgettable, and so many people have made this journey an experience that will always be etched in my mind. To my parents who have made this journey possible, I couldn't have done it without you. To my brother Geoff, you certainly had big shoes to fill at TCS, and to my friends...I am left utterly speechless. Fong, you were the best roommate anyone could ever ask for, Sarah, you always made me laugh even on the grayest of days. Kelly, you have made me strong and I wouldn't have lasted without you. Of course, Julia, you have been there since the beginning – I'll miss you, and Emily, how can I thank you enough for offering an ear and advice? I would fill up this whole yearbook if I could – it is almost impossible to squeeze four years into 200 words. But I leave you with this ... cherish every moment at Trinity. It might seem unnecessary but you're going to miss it more than you know when you're gone. It's time to close this book and open the next...carpe diem.

TCS sure is big on colour. Green leave sheets, yellow sheets for breaks, red gating sheets, purple sheets. Two years here were colourful, but now I feel the colour is draining and I'm heading out into the vast grey blur. Mum & Dad, thank you. I hope I've made you as proud as you have made me. Bruffy, we'll bring back our scandalous stories next year! Mimi, Je t'aime, embrace-moi!! Kate, "Dream" was the best way to end off my TCS career; long live fishnet stockings and mayonnaise. Ben, you are so much more than a best friend. Call me. I'll treasure our Becker's walks. Devo, babyloniyahbingie. Sean Paul wanted you to be there. Paul, our friendship was like your hair ... grew over time, and is too strong to break. Your hair is beautiful. Julia - we really are going to walk out of here holding hands. I love you. Kelly, Liz, Emily - you three have been the glue that held me together this year. Thanks for the laughter, the tears, and the "files"! Leila&Sophie, I will always be there for your Bajan bumpahs! 6 am Brent House? I'll come back for y'all; and I hope someone else gets to taste those Sunday morning waffles! If you were a part of the memories, thank you. I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way.

So this is it ... I made it. It feels like yesterday that we were playing truth or dare in the hallways at Claremont. My time at TCS has made me a stronger person, and I'm stoked for what lies ahead ...I'm finally moving onto bigger and better things. Thank you, Mom and Dad, for blessing me with this opportunity. I couldn't have made it through these four years without you; I only hope that I've made you proud. Thomas, if it wasn't for this place, we never would have met and taken all those beach runs after school. You are my everything and I'm in love with you. Gilly Billy, you are the sweetest sister I could ever ask for ... hang in there, only 2 years left. You are my angel. My gals...never forget Montreal, Mustique, Barbados, Toronto, my house, Ashley's, Cobourg parties...the list goes on. Nick – I miss you. Ash – thanks for your love and your family. Lizzy – thanks for always having the biggest smile on your face. Sarah, sister, I love you! Now put some clothes on! Patty and Mel, good luck next year, I'll miss you girls! Kelly, you're the best friend a girl could ask for ... my other half. I love you. Ready for next year? Here we come DAL! Time flies when you're havin' fun. Never forget ...
XOXO Em

I'm not gonna lie to you ... great five years. First, thanks Mom, for forcing me to come here. I appreciate it more than you know. Mel, Pat, Jen, Ness, and others ... England, Montreal, Parties, clubbing etc. Kissy-wissy-poo, love ya. Ben, Devo, Skinner, Paul – ... Keep on ... Leila & Sophie: loved getting to know you, see you in Barbados. Hawkins – T.O. Broughy, thanks for keeping me in line. Julia, Liz, Sarah – three of my greatest friends, you've been very important people to me this year. You've taught me lots about myself, life, and you've put me in my place, which was needed. You're my sisters; love you all. Good times ... late nights, Barbados, England, Guelph, Mustique, "Amy's", Gondosch family – for making me feel like another daughter/sister for the last four years, thanks. "TENNIS ANYONE" Emily – We have four more years together. I love you and couldn't have lasted here without you. We've shared everything: troubles, love, success, FUN, and still have much more. Brendon – You've inspired me to be better and want more. You're going to become something great, and never stop being you. I love you all. I MADE IT! Thanks to everyone else. "To love winning is easy; to love the battle requires toughness." - Unknown. I've treasured every minute of this "battle" at TCS, but after the Tottie Lounge, Semi-formals, an exchange to Switzerland, an awesome final year in SCOTT surrounded by 5 years of friends ... it's time to take the next step. I've often been told I talk too much! Yet, who would have thought that after 5 years at TCS, I'd be speechless? Thinking back, I'll never forget my similarities to a gnome ... what one T-shirt can do! Or the unforgettable soccer/hockey seasons! Late night dates with Tom and Markus, pre-break "gatherings", those memorable nights when everything seems to be HILARIOUS! Thanks to Mom, Dad, and my family for releasing me so early ... I'll always be grateful. Going through TCS wouldn't be the same if you didn't have that one person to share it all with. Thanks, Erin, for being there. I couldn't have picked a cooler person to share 5 years with...we actually did it! Finally, thanks to ALL my friends (you know who you are) for all the great times that will NEVER stop making me laugh! This is it ... and after it all, I regretfully say I'm finished. See ya around ... ~Fong~

It's hard to believe it's been 5 years. There's so much to say I don't know where to begin. Once again, the long nights of procrastination have caught up with me. Well, thanks Mom and Dad for giving me this great opportunity and to Audra for ALWAYS being there for me, no matter what. Fen, Sagey, Cummer, Fong and everyone else – they say that laughter is the best medicine, and you guys sure have kept me healthy. Good luck next year Sagey, don't miss me too much! Miranda, you've been there since the start and I don't know if I could have made it this far if it weren't for you. It's hard to believe my time here is up, just when I was starting to get used to it. I've made some great friends and shared good and bad times with all of them. It hasn't been perfect, but it sure has been fun. I'll miss everything about this place, especially the people. The friendships I've made here have made a huge impact on the person I've become. I can't thank you enough for making me who I am. Don't be dismayed at good-byes. A farewell is necessary before you can meet again. And meeting again, after moments or lifetimes, is certain for those who are friends. ~ Richard Bach

First, I have to thank my parents for sending me to TCS. I'll never forget it. I think the one thing TCS taught me is about finding connections, and having a wide group of friends - people you can always rely on, and trust to help you out in a pinch. Get good friends who will always be on your side! Otherwise, they never were your friends. Here it is ... Nuttall, you will never be bigger than me! To the musicians! I'll miss you all, you're amazing! Mr. Parker, Ms. Jackson, and Mr. Hunter, you're the best! I cried when it ended ... Wouldn't have been fun if it weren't for you! Campbell, Garth, and Marc, you kept here for five years, and I'm thankful for that! Vanessa, I think I'm starting to mature ... Maybe just a bit ... There are two things in the world that you can trust, yourself and music. "We are the music makers, and we are the dreamers of dreams." In ten years, if you're in Toronto or Vancouver, come by my Jazz Restaurant, "Delirio".
Frank Sinatra said it well, "I'm gonna live till I die" and "... I did it my way."
It's been fun.

First of all, I want to thank God, my parents, uncle Gurkirat ,and my guardians 'Dhaliwals' for giving me an opportunity to attend TCS; I shall always be grateful to you. I also want to thank all my teachers and peers for two unforgettable years at TCS. Special thanks to Mr. Large and Mr. Cameron; you guys are my role models. TCS has given me so much; I have no words to describe it. It had been a privilege to be in both Hodgetts and Orchard. I also want to pay my sincere gratitude to my advisor, Mr. Traugott, for helping and guiding me whenever I needed him. Mr. Wright and Father Don, I appreciate your warmth and support; Thank you. A "Big up" to all my friends Bradshaw, Kienan, Chopes, Willison, Max, Pandit, Nuttall, Hostick, Kurtis, James, DRay, Jamsheed, Gadd, Josh, Ted, Bayer, Harman, Charters and the list goes on and on and on ... No offence if I missed you! Cricket rules! Thank you TCS. I loved every bit of it.

It's hard to believe four years have come and gone so quickly. I can still remember coming to Trinity, with no idea what to expect, who I would meet along the way, or how the next four years of my life would unfold. Now, as I look ahead to the day I'll be graduating, I sit here wondering where all the time went ... and I have no clue. But I know that somewhere along the way, life-long friendships were made, lessons were learned, and I've had the time of my life. Mom and Dad, thank you. I appreciate all the sacrifices you have made, and I am forever indebted. Brendon, thanks for leading the way - I couldn't think of a better role model. Michelle, thanks for all your support and advice. To all the girls (you know who you are) it's been incredible. "Turns out not where but who you're with that really matters ..." With that being said, I look ahead to what the next few years have in store, and again I have no idea where I'll end up, or who'll I'll meet along the way ... but that's the beauty of it.

Hey, I've got nothing to do today but smile - S&G. I never knew I could love a place so much, that saying goodbye would be this hard. Cheers to: basketball, soccer, pot bellies, chelax", wasp, Collingwood, scammers, sneaking out and Mexico. To my friends and BBF, for the uncountable memories that have transpired within these walls and the invaluable lessons you have taught me, thank you. Ness, Marty and Beavs, we may travel different roads, but I know time will not weaken our friendship. Prefs, thanks for the laughs, let's meet in twenty years and make fun of each other! Christ and Robert, I've learned more from you than the games you taught so well. Willzie, for all you have been to me, to simply say thank you would never suffice. Sess, thanks for the shoulder! Uncle Bab, thank you for bringing Trinity into my life; I could never have done it without you. Jen, you've shown me the true meaning of friendship, merci. Em-stinky, thank you for your innocence - I'm sorry we corrupted you! Jo, you left me big shoes to fill. I hope I've made you as proud as you've made me. Bins and Poods, for everything good inside of me, I have you to thank. I love you both. It's been a privilege, Trinity. I'm eternally indebted.

So this is it. Two perfect years that couldn't have come and gone at a better time. Mom and Dad, you made this happen, among so many other great things in my life. I can't stop loving you. Sammy, we made it! Couldn't have done it alone. BBF keep on givin 'er. Thanks to: Roomie, Coach Christ for the memories, Coach Nichols, thanks for it all - it's been real, 'schee you around schuker'. Feds and Willzie, I couldn't have asked for better friends - you will be missed. Mr. Wright, you are my hero. Grads, the only purpose of life is to live a life of purpose. TCS senior women crew: my herd, my friends, I will miss you all sooo very much - good luck next year. Finally to Neil, Dave, Bob, Jerry, Trey, Craig and Gord, to name a few, thanks for keeping me grounded and the long nights of studying.

Well, it's hard to believe that it's nearly over. The two years that I have spent at TCS have been an amazing learning experience. Marty: you kept me strong throughout it all, and I couldn't have done it without your advice and support; its been nine years and I plan to keep counting ... Bob: Thanks for the memories you've left me with and definitely the laughs. You mean so much to me. LaFleur - Thanks for listening. BBF: I'll miss you all. I won't forget the movie nights in my room and the pranks we planned that never seemed to work out. To Mel and Robs— Burns is yours now. Keep it strong, and enjoy your last year at TCS. To Mr. Reid: swimming is my passion—and you kept it that way. I'll never forget everything you did for me. Garth: You made me love rowing, and I don't think that I'll ever have a coach so passionate for a sport. I am forever indebted to my parents for allowing me this opportunity. To my Senior Women's eight: my herd! Always remember swimming squirrels and staring cows— Schee ya Schuckers! My two years here have been full of laughs, tears, and too many study breaks. Thanks to everyone involved—you made it this memorable.

Patricia Beckerman

"To regret one's own experiences is to arrest one's own development. To deny one's own experiences is to put a lie into the lips of one's life. It is no less than a denial of the soul" –Oscar Wilde.
Experiences have ultimately driven me to another level in life. Laughter, cries, partying, hard work and last but not the least, long lasting friendships, have made me realize the true value of experiences. I have come a long way during my three years at Trinity, and I have finally found a basis in which to continue on and prosper. Along with the ups and downs, come the timeless moments with friends which will never be forgotten. I have learnt that, because I will no longer be nurtured, I will be a free bird, ready to fly on to the next path of existence. Props to all my girls and guys– you all know who you

Life moves pretty fast. If you don't stop and look around once in awhile, you could miss it. That is probably the greatest lesson I learned here at TCS. My friends, wherever you are, I carry a part of you with me always - thank you for helping me to be who I am today. I couldn't have made it without you. Dicky, Roomie, M.L.S, Brown Sound, Brankie girls, Scotties (em 2), and BBF: thanks Girls, you kept me going. "Now let's get dirty!" Willzy, thanks for everything. Coaches, whether you were pushing me to run up Mount Trinity, teaching me flip turns in the pool, or tossing around a ball with me, I want to thank you for everything. Mr. Wright, I will never forget you. Mom and Dad, I love you - thank you for letting me go; I know how hard it was for you. Mini-Me, enjoy high school because it goes by too quickly, and to the rest of the S.C.J.Tours, can't think of a better family than the one I've got. Jamie I Pizza you, more then you will ever know. Thanks for always being there. I will never forget this place; but it's time to go. See ya later alligator …

Three years at TCS - what was I thinking? Well I'm glad I ended up here; nowhere else could have been the same! Mom & Dad, thanks for being great role models and for giving me everything. I love you. Kelly, you will never be forgotten. Family, thanks for all the support, love you. To my friends back home and stuck in the magic kingdom, the party will never end. BBF; Dicks & Mel (keep it cool next year!), Pat, Sarah, Martha, Heather, Vanessa, Jen, and Kristina: TCS wouldn't have been the same without each one of you. Friends last forever, and I will always be here for you. To the boys in Br, Bi & Be, you know who you are, thanks for being great friends. Dave, I love you - thanks for being a great boyfriend and for all the good times - I'll never forget them. Bobcaygeon, Bahamas, England, Collingwood, Mexico, the list goes on: good times! A BIG thank you to my teachers and coaches, thanks for not letting my brain turn to mush and for keeping me in shape! Mr. Wright, thanks for making Trinity such a great place! Willzie & Steph, thanks for keeping me in line. What can I say? I'm going to miss TCS.
Some words of wisdom: if you've got something good, enjoy it! Peace. - Amy

More quickly than imaginable, four years have passed by. Thinking back, irreplaceable memories which I will cherish forever fill my head. Trinity has given me such a rewarding and unforgettable experience. I will never forget my time here - thanks to everyone who was part of it. To those of you who I've grown close to over the years - there are too many to mention separately - but you know who you are and I love all of you. I'm confident there will be plenty of good times down the road. Here's to BBF, C-wood (Kershaw!), mud, cheerleading, late night chats, (um ... trivial pursuit …) and of course riding IS a sport! Mum and Dad, thank you so much for having given me this incredible opportunity and for always being there for me; it's a gift for which I'm ever grateful and simply can't repay, but I hope to always make you proud. Alex...andra, it's been great having you here this year, I'll miss you! Work hard and you will succeed - you're a brilliant, beautiful girl! I love you!
"A happy moment soon dies and never returns in an identical form. But that doesn't mean there aren't equally happy moments ahead - just new ones" Good luck to everyone in the future - follow your dreams; if you don't, you'll never know what could have become.
Love always.

Three years at TCS ... three years, where many people asked "How can you survive here that long?" ... Three years where I have learned a lot and have changed ... three years that have gone by so slow, but yet soooo fast. I know it might sound weird, but I already know I will miss this ... I will miss the people complaining about MSN not working during study and school hours ... the obsession with certain TV shows containing hot superheroes ... people complaining about not sleeping ... my roommate and I complaining about not sleeping ... EVERYONE complaining about not sleeping!!! I don't really know what to write here ... I hope people will remember me as who I am and how loud I was ... and not what I wrote here ... I wanna thank everyone who entered my life, you made a difference. Thanks for the great Softball season, thanks to my parents for this opportunity and the many packages full of German candy, and thanks to my friends, for the great times, the fun we had, and being there for me. I learned from those, who are close to me, the value of love and friendship; they are what keep you alive. I hope we all stay in touch, even if we weren't that close... well, I am out. Bye!

Ashley Dickson

"I am an introvert, but I am comfortable expressing myself through soccer"- Mia Hamm. I am much like this. I have spent many years at Trinity ... and will admit that there were times that I was too passive on taking initiative with things. I live for soccer, friends and Classic Rock, and Trinity has given me all of those things and more! It is human nature not to appreciate things until you lose them, and I now understand this more as it comes time to leave. To all of my friends at Trinity and outside Trinity, thank you for all the good times! I know there will be more to come. I know it is time to go, and I am ready...Thank you, Mom and Rick, for everything, and to the Kedwells for teaching me how to travel. Marcelle I hope we will meet again someday! To everyone else; know that life is to short to be ticked off all the time ... relax and enjoy life!
Luv Always, Amy L. Dickson
"You will still be here tomorrow, but your dreams may not"- Cat Stevens

I feel so lucky to spend two years at TCS. Opening my eyes widely and searching for a new world is wonderful. Also, special thanks to Mrs.Malenfant for generously offering me soooooo...ooo much help on my oral and written English. Wish all my friends the best luck next year.

The beginning:a slacker, bad grades, a careless attitude at times – no one thought I would finish. Four years later I'm still here (thanks Ms. B) ready to take on the world. Liz, Sarah, Kel,& Em: this is not the end for us; it is just the beginning of who we really are to become in life; paths will cross again. Binks, I always knew we would walk together holding hands at grad. Kelly, we have had our share of fights – but it's only because we are learning so much about someone so different. Liz, four years later we are still hanging on & all grown up. D, hang in there. Roomie, we have lived together & survived this place together. Bickle boys – you surely know how to set a woman crazy (Duncan!) Jonathan – we've had the best and worst times – my secrets I've shared and you've kept. I've learned a lot from us – Vous avez un morceau de mon coeur - je t'aime. Gone den Mandi -Thank you x10 – I wouldnt've survived my last year without you. You'll be fine. Our friendship will last forever. Mom & Dad, there are no words that could express how much I appreciate all the sacrifices that you made for me. Thank you

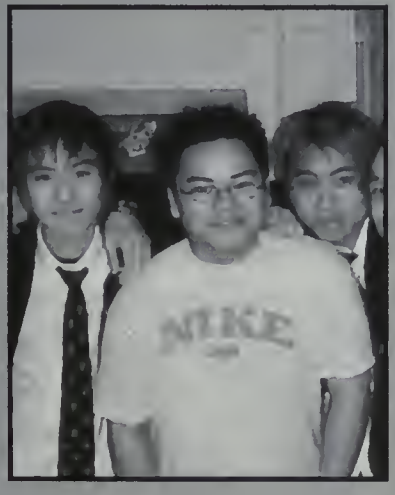

Paul Janicki

The past six years at Trinity have been an experience to say the least. They have shaped the person I am today, which can be seen as a good or a bad thing. I will always be grateful for the people I met: Maynard – always there to get me lifted when I was down. Skinner – I'll never feel like I'm good at Smash Bros. again. Ben – one of the weirdest kids I've met and always a good laugh. Old Man Smithers; a.k.a. the thinking man – I could watch you all day and laugh myself stupid. J Bega – one of the truest friends anyone could hope for. It's lonely at the end without you two! Leila – I am the luckiest guy alive, would give you the world if I could! And Sarah – always there when I needed you, if you could just lower your voice a bit. A word of advice: never conform. They can give you as many quarters, gatings, and suspensions as they want, but never give them the satisfaction of conformity: Untuck your shirt, wear skate shoes, "misplace" your blazer every day, and rip off that damned top button!

Mike Maynard

As a member of the T.H.C. (Trent Hills Crew) I never really fit into the crowd of TCS students. However, four years of school allowed me to make some really good friends. Paul, Skinner, Smith, Bethel and Ben – you guys made Trinity worthwhile. Bethel, you were always there. Skinner, you just got too good at super smash bros. Paul, you were always around to make me want to quit skateboarding. Smith, you were just a mellow guy who should have made it to the end. During my time at TCS, I never got very good marks and just in this final year I received a lot of deferrals from Universities but I believe Trinity still made me a better person. School spirit has never been a big necessity in my life, and I am grateful that I had my skate ramp to let my mind escape from reality. Four years of TCS felt like a long time but Skinner and Smith helped the time pass by.

Hanson Chan

Thank you, TCS.

I finally made it! First of all, I would like to thank my parents for giving me such a great opportunity and for being there for me the whole way through. If it were not for them, I would not have made it. Trinity has been an eye-opener for me and has taught me a lot. There were some ups and downs but, all in all, it was great. Big up to all the islander posse ... gregg, mous, george ... respect!...tight tight. I gun come back one a dese days and give de men a shout out and get noid. Thanx, Dustin

Matt McPherson

Thank you, TCS.

THE FINAL WORD

This is has been the only page that we have looked forward to start since the beginning of this adventure and curs Yes we said curse. We have risen from the bottomless pits of hell, otherwise known as the old Record Room in t basement of the old classroom block to sit triumphantly above Olser hall. Yes it is like heaven with the sweet view a sounds of summer ringing in our ears. The only drawback is that it is indeed June 20, and school did end eight ve very long days ago. We always imagined that the end of high school would bring about weeks of partying and fun, b nah, it has delivered us back to school and back to work. We do have our names woven into the fabric of this gre school's history but, in all honesty, it is easier to get a 96% average than to complete all the work that has to be do on The Record. Well we did mention that it was an adventure, and a few good things did come along. We got 100 in yearbook class, and we became rebels without a cause for a few fun days back here at school. There has been o certainty throughout this year: we were hopelessly blind and stupid when we took this job.

Beside all the haunting thoughts about being the editors of The Record there are many people whom we have thank. Photographers that pledged your skills to us at the beginning of this year, you have all proved to be utte useless. Mr. Wright, you have been the only photographer at this school that has stayed true to us and allowed for t publication to be finished. We are deeply indebted to you and would once again like to thank you for what you ha provided us. Mr. Grandfield, what can we say? You have successfully tricked us into one of the worst jobs at t school, but we are very appreciative of the fact that you have always been there to help us. To Mr. Haines—Thanks f all the advice and help that you provided us with, including the 30-minute crash course on how to use PageMaker. V couldn't have done it without you.

We would also like to take the time to thank the previous editors (Jess Green & Robin Charters) for leaving us wi the tightest timetable ever because of your inability to finish The Record on time last year. We still love you gu though.

This paragraph is designated to thank the people who made our week spent at TCS after school ended somewh bearable!

Dingram: Thanks for letting us stay at your place, as well as the advice and breaks once in awhile, we truly appr ciate it.

Mr. Reid and Mrs. Baldwin: Thanks for dinner!

Martha: Thanks for helping out for that day, and keeping us from going crazy and killing each other

To the Ass-Fac (who were here)—You are all TOO much fun. Let the good times roll

Campbell and Suzy (and your future child): Thanks for the excitement of running to the window everytime heard your car door slam, thinking Suzy was in labour. Good luck!

To our section editors (Heds, Ness, Marty, Liz, Gondosch, Rachel): cheers and well done on making our life a wh lot easier.

To those cranky people who get mad at us for losing something out of a 160-page yearbook: hope you enjoyed t book—you were one of the factors that made our time doing this project hell.

To Sam Widmer, Tem Sobowale, and Jenn Williams: good luck doing this next year, and thanks a million for yo help this year. Our advice: do it early, be organized, don't lose stuff!

Lastly, this publication is for you guys as students. Enjoy it, 'cause we certainly did making it (HA)

Cheers,

Jonathan Brennan & Sarah Sylvester
